CARRANZISTAS FIRE ON U. S. MEN; WITHDRAWAL ASKED

CITIZENS JOIN IN THE ATTACK

Troopers do Not Return Fire at Parral, Mexico And no Casualties Are Reported

FUNSTON DENOUNCES THEM

Declares De Facto Government Has Failed to Co-Operate With American Government

TWO BIG QUESTIONS AT CRITICAL STAGE

Washington, April 13.—The administration today faced the two big questions—Mexico and the submarine issue—at the most critical stages since either became an issue. The next moves in either case may bring on a real crisis.

(By United Press.)
San Antonio, April 13.—Carranza soldiers and citizens in Parral fired on American troops when the latter marched through the city, Consul Letcher reported to Major General Funston today, quoting advice from General Gutierrez, the de facto commander at Parral. There were no casualties.

General Gutierrez adopted a complaining attitude in his advice to Letcher. The Carranzistas had no idea the Americans were so far south, he declared, and were surprised by the marching powers of the men. The Mexican general's dispatches were interpreted to mean the Carranzistas did not intend to permit the Americans to progress so far into Mexico.

One hundred and forty soldiers believed to be part of Major Tompkin's command comprised the force that passed Parral, Letcher reported. The Americans kept on marching, paying little attention to the firing.

Funston flatly denounced the Carranzistas as failing to co-operate with the Americans. He pointed out that they have twice allowed Villa to slip through their lines.

Prepared for any eventuality the American forces will continue their hunt for Villa until orders to discontinue their chase are received from the war department or Villa is killed or captured, Funston said. He denied the American advance forces are in danger in case the supplies should be cut off. He intimated he had full confidence in the ability of the Americans to take care of themselves.

It was considered evident at headquarters that Gutierrez held the Americans responsible for the shooting at Parral.

Letcher's dispatches did not make clear whether the American troops returned the fire. He reported the force numbering about 140 men. The same dispatches, however, mentioned an "exchange" of shots.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)
Washington, April 13.—In a twenty-five minute conference with Secretary Lansing this afternoon Mexican Ambassador Arredondo presented General Carranza's suggestion for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. After the conference Arredondo was reticent.

(By United Press.)
Washington, April 13.—General Carranza has prepared a demand for withdrawal of American troops in Mexico. The state department had not yet received this demand at noon today and no comment was made.

In advance of actual receipt of the demand and before the administration's policy had been formulated, a high administration official hinted broadly to the United Press that it is doubtful whether this government will meet such a demand.

Carranza's note is in the hands of the Mexican embassy here. It is in no sense an ultimatum or a demand, it was said at the embassy. It was characterized rather as a "request" for negotiations looking to the withdrawal of troops.

Long correspondence is believed inevitable and in the meantime the chase of Villa will be conducted with utmost energy.

Request Isn't Granted

DE FACTO TROOP MOVEMENTS

(By United Press.)
Columbus, N. M., April 13.—(Censored) A high military official at the base camp here today expressed the belief that it was inadvisable for the American troops to withdraw from Mexico at present but that if Carranza's request was not granted a break was inevitable.

Many officers were of the opinion that Carranza's wishes would be respected and the troops would be withdrawn. All declared the taking up by Carranza troops of strategic position commanding American supply lines was significant. The officers believe the de facto troops were sent to their places for moral effect to support the request. (deleted by censor.)

RUSH COUNTY GETS SHARE HAVE NAMES OF THE CREW

Check For $1,252 From I. U. Endowment Fund is Received

Rush county has received a check for $1,252 as its share of the annual distribution of the permanent endowment fund of Indiana University. The state distributed a total of $144,000 among the ninety-two counties. This amount it to be placed in the common school fund and will draw interest at the rate of six per cent. The permanent endowment fund of Indiana University in Rush county amounts to about $6,000.

EXEMPTION TIME IS NEAR ENDING

April 29 Will be Last Day For Filing This Year Because April
30 is on Sunday

CAN SAVE $28.42 IN THIS CITY

The final day for filing mortgage exemptions is April 29. The time this year is cut one day shorter because the last day of April falls on Sunday. The exemptions have to be filed with the county auditor. So far the exemptions have been coming in rather slowly and unless the rush appears soon many people will be forced to pay more taxes because of not having taken advantage of the $700 exemption. In Rushville City the exemption means a saving of $28.42.

The exemptions can be made out by any notary or justice of peace and the only part the auditor plays in the exemption business is that they are filed with him.

SEE PROOF OF THE TORPEDOING

British Believe it Sufficient Since
Germans Admit Attacking Unidentified Vessel

NONE OTHER SENT DOWN THEN

(By United Press.)
London, April 13.—Positive proof that the Sussex was torpedoed was seen by British officials today in the German admission that an unidentified vessel was attacked by a submarine in the same place and at practically the same time the Channel liner was damaged.

It is officially stated that no other vessel was torpedoed in the Channel at the time mentioned in the German note transmitted to Washington.

TO STAY IN WASHINGTON

(By United Press.)
Washington, April 13.—Wilson today decided today not to make the proposed trip to New York Saturday for a speech before the Young Men's Democratic League.

SUSTAINS SPRAINED ANKLE

Mrs. Carl Beher sustained a badly sprained ankle today at noon at the home of A. G. Haydon. She was pulling a dead limb from a tree and it became unfastened easier than she expected and as a result Mrs. Beher was precipitated to the ground. In falling her ankle turned under her body. No bones were broken, but the injury was quite painful.

French Declared to Have Information on Sussex Sinking

(By United Press.)
Paris, April 13.—The French government has in its possession not only thirteen fragments of the torpedo shot against the Sussex but also the names of the captain and members of the crew of the attacking German submarine, it was officially announced today.

The information, the press bureau stated, was obtained from the officers and crew of a German submarine captured April.

CLEVENGER CASE SET FOR MONDAY

"Bootlegging" Trial Promises to be Stubborn Struggle From Preparations Made

IT MAY REQUIRE TWO DAYS

The case against Martin Clevenger, charged with "bootlegging" will start in circuit court next Monday before Judge Sparks and a jury. Both sides were busy today getting out their list of witnesses and handing the names to the sheriff.

The case has attracted considerable attention and it is understood that Clevenger will make a stubborn fight. He is said to have called about forty witnesses to testify in his behalf. A large number of these are character witnesses and include some of the prominent men of the city. Because of the large number of witnesses the case is expected to require at least two days. The court ordered a special venire of ten talesmen for the trial.

JAMES GERAGHTY A VICE-PRESIDENT

Rushville Man Elected Official of Master Horseshoers of Indiana at Lafayette.

RAISE PRICE FROM $1.50 TO $2.

James Geraghty of this city was elected first vice-president of the Master Horseshoers of Indiana at the annual meeting which closed yesterday in Lafayette. The next meeting of the association will be held in Evansville.

A resolution was passed at the convention authorizing Master Horseshoers to increase the price of horseshoeing from $1.50 to $2 a horse. The war and the passing of the carriage horse have put a crimp in the blacksmith's bank roll and the increase was deemed necessary.

The resolution stated that most of the horses are hard to handle, and as metal used in the work has advanced in price due to the war, it was necessary to make a corresponding increase in the price of the work.

PASSED CHECK IN ORANGE

Ralph Pitman will be given a hearing before Squire Kratzer one week from Friday on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. It is alleged that he gave a check to J. G. Reed, a blacksmith of Orange for $1.60 without having the necessary funds in the bank.

RECALLS EVENTS REQUESTED TO OF 29 YEARS AGO NAME DELEGATES

Witness in the Hudson-Binford Suit
Tells of Conversation he Heard in 1887

CLAIM FOR $7,000 AT ISSUE

Witness Says Late Jared Binford
Agreed to Take Care of Harry
Hudson "As a Son."

Evidence in the case of Harry Hudson against the estate of Jared Binford, being heard in circuit court before Judge Alonzo Blair and a jury, goes as far back at 1887 and one witness related a conversation occurring in 1897. Hudson, who was practically reared by Mr. Binford, demands $7,000 on a claim against the estate.

The case dates from the time Hudson was eleven years old, in 1887, and went to make his home with the Binfords. One witness testified that Mr. Binford and Hudson's parents reached an agreement whereby the boy was to go to the Binford home. He was promised an education, and according to the witness "would be taken care of as a son."

The suit has attracted more than passing attention. A large number of Ripley township people are witnesses. The late Mr. Binford was from Ripley township. Mr. Hudson left the Binford home shortly after he was twenty-one years old.

Lee Wooten, of Knightstown, formerly in the dry-goods business in Carthage testified to a conversation he had with the late Mr. Binford in 1897. Binford had just purchased some more land and according to Wooten stated that as "Harry had been a good boy to work he wanted to give him a farm some day."

Rolland Hill of Carthage testified that he believed Hudson was entitled to $4,000 from the estate for labor performed. He based his figures on an estimate made before taking the witness stand. According to his figures he had a sliding scale allowing Hudson a little more each year or in groups of five year periods.

For the first five years Hudson worked for Mr. Binford Hill would have allowed him fifty cents a day. When asked on cross-examination if he did not think this a little high he replied that it was not if he had worked for Jared Binford. The case is expected to go to the jury by tomorrow afternoon.

The Trackwell-Irvin fish "farm" suit ended this morning shortly before noon. Miss Susie Brown, one of the defendants until yesterday when Judge Springer found for her, was on the stand again for the final argument.

The case of the International Harvester Company against Owen Sweet on a note demanding $85 was dismissed and the costs paid.

Judge Sparks found for the White-Haines Optical Company against Charles Younger on an account and rendered judgment for $92.20.

Judge Sparks this afternoon granted a motion to retax the costs in the Jacksonian receivership case. By granting the motion the court held that the Mergenthaler company, owners of the linotype machine was not responsible for any of the costs in the receivership. About $37 was involved.

Born to the wife of James Swihart of Cincinnati this morning a baby boy. Mrs. Swihart was formerly Miss Hazel Spurrier of this city. The baby has been named James W. Jr.

County Commissioners Urged to Send Representatives to Sixth
District Road Meeting

WILL BE AT CAMBRIDGE CITY

Proposed to Formulate a Plan to Get Passage of State Highway Commission Law.

A Sixth district highway meeting will be held in Cambridge City on April 26 and the commissioners of Rush county have been asked to appoint five delegates to attend. There is a growing sentiment for a state highway department in order to secure federal aid in the building of roads and the meeting in Cambridge City is called at the request of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

It is proposed to formulate some plan of action before the next legislature in getting a law passed to create a state highway commission and a highway department. The mayors of many cities have been asked to appoint delegates and it is expected that the meeting will attract a large crowd. The question has not yet been presented to the commissioners.

The letter from the Richmond Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the fact that Indiana is one of the few exceptions in the United States where there is no state highway department. It is stated that an organization for the furtherance of this commendable project was formed at Richmond April 5 of this year.

At this meeting it was suggested that state-wide co-operation be obtained by county and district organizations so that by the time the next legislature meets a model bill will have been prepared and there will be a universal and active demand for its passage.

DIES IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Minnie Guffin Lamb, formerly of this city, died very suddenly in Chicago Tuesday, her death coming as a result of heart trouble. She is a daughter of the late Harry Guffin. Her mother, Mrs. Harry Guffin recently had the misfortune to break her hip and is now scarcely able to be about on crutches. Mrs. Dora Wood of this city has gone to Chicago to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lamb.

ROAD PETITION

A petition for a gravel road on the township line of Posey and Ripley township has been filed with the county auditor. The petition will be given a hearing on May 1 and viewers appointed.

The Rev. A. P. Waller of Newcastle comes to the Second M. E. church here instead of the Second Baptist church as was stated yesterday.

Boring and Building

Talk about yourself and you are a bore, advertise and you are listened to.
There is a curious law of human nature back of this. Tall is cheap. Advertising costs definite dollars and people know it. They take it that you would not spend your money unless you had something to say.
They regard advertising as matter of direct interest to them. They read it and they buy advertised goods and patronize stores that advertise.
The daily newspaper is the great advertising message bearer.

CENSOR KEEPS TAB ON THE MAIL

Letter from Rushville Boy With American Expedition Tells Nothing of Movements.

ODEN SOMMERVILLE WRITES

Declares he Will Have Something Interesting to Relate on His Return Home.

A letter from Oden Sommerville, who is in Mexico with the American expedition, to his mother, Mrs. Christian Fox, 417 West First street serves as an example of the way the army is keeping its movements secret. As a missive to tell something of the campaign to catch Villa, it is worthless. Sommerville says that he is not allowed to say anything of his company's whereabouts or their experiences, but that he will have plenty of stories to tell when he arrives home.

"I received your letter some few days ago and it did me more good than any letter I ever received for if ever any man wanted to hear from home it was me. It made me think I was close to God's country anyway," Sommerville says.

"This is certainly some country here. All you can see is sand and mountains and it is hot in the day time and cold at night. We are 7,500 feet above sea level. So you can tell by that how the weather is and I think we will go higher yet. That is what everybody says.

"I would tell you a lot more but I can not for all our mail is read before it can leave here and there are certain things we are now allowed to write, but I can tell you those later.

"I am feeling fine with the exception of a little cold, but that is not anything new for me for I have one all the time. You tell Ferd (his brother) if he doesn't write to me that I said we would have it out when I get home and that is not a long way off either.

"You want to overlook this writing for if you could see the position I am in you would. I am flat on my stomach and writing on a board about two inches wide. I am about out of paper so I will close."

The envelope shows the "O. K." of the censor who saw to it that Sommerville said nothing interesting. Sommerville says he can get neither paper, envelopes or stamps and asks his mother to send him some.

SCHOOL HEADS

BLAME MOTHERS

Say Parents Neglect Primary Health Rules

That many school children are being allowed to become chronically constipated through parent's oversight, is a startling fact brought to light by recent investigation by school authorities. Hastily snatched meals so that there will be more time to play, the use of ready-to-eat cereals, and the general neglect of the call of nature are given as principal causes.

It is the duty of mothers to see that children attend to the call of nature before going to school.

However, a laxative is sometimes needed, and this should be the old reliable, healing, natural vegetable treatment for constipation—castor oil—the only remedy that doesn't form a habit.

In the new jellied form known as CASTOR-JELL it is easy to take, CASTOR-JELL is simply 94 per cent pure castor oil, whipped into jellied form and with a delicious orange flavor added. On sale at Hargrove & Mullins. Demonstration now going on. Castor Products Co., Cleveland Ohio.

time to treat with the United States government for the withdrawal of their forces from our territory," says the communication from Carranza's secretary of state to Secretary Lansing, according to the unofficial text received today.

The administration was suddenly brought face to face with what may prove the most serious situation that has grown out of the pursuit of Pancho Villa.

Declaring the crossing of the Mexican border never has been formally agreed to by the Carranza government the note reported en route makes this declaration perhaps the most important of its contents:

"***** The Mexican government judges it convenient to suspend for the present all discussion of negotiations in this particular," "Disoccupation" of Mexico is asked on the ground that Villa's band has been dispersed and Carranza's forces are able to complete the task of extermination.

An Odd Turkish Superstition.

An odd Turkish superstition is as follows: If one finds a piece of bread lying upon the ground he must pick it up, kiss it and carry it until he finds a hole into which the bread can be inserted. To step upon a piece of bread or to leave it lying upon the ground is one of the unpardonable sins and dooms the offender to the third hell, where he is perpetually gored by an ox that has but a single horn that is in the center of his forehead.

The Smile.

We talk of a smile of defiance. There is really no such thing. Such a so-called smile is nothing more nor less than a snarl, a survival of the way our savage ancestors had of showing their teeth in order to strike fear into the hearts of their enemies. The real smile of pleasure begins with slightly opening the mouth, and is, of course, traceable to the joy of those same savage forefathers of ours at the prospect of food.

GOOD paint—like Burdsal Paint—does more than merely protect and prolong the life of houses, barns, fences, sheds and other buildings. It increases their value—makes them worth more.

How? It makes them more attractive—and therefore more desirable. Well-kept, well-painted property speaks well for the man who owns it. It is a real indication of thrift and good business judgment.

WHITE OF THE MOON.

What Causes Fair Luna, in its Color, to Rival Pure Snow?

The moon has no light of its own and shines through being illuminated by the sun. What sort of surface must the moon have to reflect the light so whitely as it does? This question is put forcibly in a letter to Nature from J. Evershed of Srinagar, Kashmir, who describes the moon as far whiter and more brilliant than the snow clad summits of the Himalayas when these are still lighted by the sun. He writes:

"Why does the moon appear so white if it is composed of rocks similar in reflecting power to those on the earth? The rock surface of the moon should reflect far less light than the cloudy surfaces of Venus and Jupiter, and it would be of interest if those who know would explain the apparent whiteness of the moon as seen in daylight."

"A direct comparison of the moon with terrestrial rock surfaces illuminated by sunlight is possibly to some extent vitiated by the superimposed blue light scattered by the intervening air, which may affect the color of the moon. Yet it is very difficult to believe that this can convert the grays and browns of rock surfaces into an almost pure white."

"On several occasions in this valley I have compared the waning moon, setting behind the Pir Panjal mountains, and, of course, in full sunlight, with extensive snow fields. These snows are perhaps fifty miles distant, and there is a considerable amount of blue scattered light superposed on the snow, although less than on the moon. Also the light absorbed by the atmosphere is approximately and may be exactly the same for each if one considers the whole path of the light from sun to snow and thence to the observer. When the air is transparent enough to see the moon clearly it appears to me to be distinctly whiter than the snows, which seem dull and yellowish in comparison."

Mr. Evershed throws out the suggestion that the moon's surface may be covered with ice.

PICKING A LOBSTER.

Always Select One That Kicks and Struggles Vigorously.

When you go to pick out a lobster for cooking select one that kicks. Such is the advice Mrs. Mary C. Pickett gives in the National Food Magazine, the editor of which calls her the "lobster queen" and says she is the best known lobster broker in the United States.

Mrs. Pickett quotes the ancient Hebrew law against eating anything that has died of itself, and says that the moment a lobster is taken out of salt water it begins to die and its flesh to deteriorate. So the excellence of a lobster depends in large measure on the length of time that elapses between his being taken from the water and his being served at table. When a lobster moves his claws feebly he is nearly dead and, though not unfit to eat, his flesh will not be firm and tasty.

Keepers of first class restaurants have experts to select their lobsters. These pick them over as soon as received, sending some to be boiled at once and reserving others for broiling. The finest lobsters come from the coldest waters, and Mrs. Pickett says those caught south of Cape Cod do not amount to much, their flesh being not nearly so firm as those from Maine waters.

The only way to tell if a lobster is in really good condition is by its liveliness. If it struggles vigorously, flops its tail and "makes wide open mit its claws," it is all right; if it is lethargic, opens its claws wearily and shows no sign of fight, it is dying and should be let alone, for it is not cheap at any price.

"The lobster," writes Mrs. Pickett, "should be boiled in the morning for use at dinner and kept in a very cold place, but not in direct contact with the ice, and it is better not to remove the meat from the shell until just before preparing it in any desired way."

Mystifying Chemical Trick.

A plain blue handkerchief is shown to the audience. When the handkerchief is warmed it turns white and when cooled resumes its former color. Make a starch paste and add enough water to the paste to thin it. Then add sufficient tincture of iodine to color the liquid blue. A few drops will be enough. Dye a white handkerchief with this blue liquid, and when the handkerchief is dry it is ready for the trick.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Bargain.

"Look, dearie, at the lovely pair of shoes I bought today. Such a bargain, too—only $3.95."

"But aren't they a trifle small for you?"

"Now that you mention it, I think they are, but what can one expect for such a ridiculous price?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Difference.

Man has fashioned the world. He has tunneled its peaks, bridged its chasms, drained its floods, laid cables across its oceans, cut its isthmuses, farmed its deserts and set up its civilizations. He fashions. Woman follows the fashions—that is the difference.—Life.

Farmers Are Benefited.

To show that farmers have been benefited by the war and that they are actually getting war orders, Congressman W. E. Humphrey of Washington cites the following:

"Democrats point to the prosperity of the farmer. True we have the largest wheat crop in our history, and we have sold more to Europe than ever before. Our sale of wheat to Europe during the first year of the war compared with the first year of the present tariff law in time of peace increased from $103,595,000 worth to $316,262,000 worth, a gain of 205 per cent.

"During the year of peace we sold in breadstuffs to Europe $181,484,000 worth. In the year of war we sold $567,607,000, a gain of 213 per cent.

"In the year of peace we sold to Europe horses to the value of $3,177,000. In the year of war we sold them horses to the value of $82,276,000, a gain of 2,490 per cent.

"In the year of peace we sold to Europe mules to the value of $622,000. In the year of war we sold them mules to the value of $18,041,000, a gain of 2,795 per cent.

"During the year of peace we sold to Europe hay to the value of $790,000. During the year of war we sold to Europe hay to the value of $2,263,000, a gain of 233 per cent.

"During the year of peace we sold to Europe meats and dairy products to the value of $138,736,000. During the year of war $243,098,000, a gain of 75 per cent.

"During the year of peace we sold to Europe sugar to the value of $4,341,000. During the year of war we sold to Europe sugar to the value of $36,816,000, a gain of 748 per cent.

"Why should not the farmer of this country be prosperous when he is feeding the greatest armies that this world has ever seen? Does the Democratic party think that there is a farmer in all America that can be deceived as to the reason of their present prosperity or that has forgotten the conditions that prevailed in his country the year before he war and the first year of the Underwood law upon our statute books?"

"Study Trust"

The reason for the recent failure of one-fourth of the midshipmen at Annapolis to pass their mid-year examinations has been explained. And it's a queer explanation. The mid-dies, it appears, had organized a "study trust," an institution which, though not in contravention of the Sherman law, was a plain infringement of patriotic obligations.

It appears that the demand for a larger navy which arose last year convinced the mid-dies that they would all be needed as officers, that Uncle Sam simply couldn't do without them and would have to give them commissions no matter how their records stood. An old and discredited institution, the "study trust," reappeared, and proceeded to discourage all hard study. If a midshipman labored conscientiously, the idlers found means to make life so disagreeable for them that he usually fell into line. Thus the scholarship of the academy was sadly lowered.

But the boys reckoned without their host. Capt. Eberle had taken charge, as superintendent, and he proceeded to run the academy "just as he had commanded battleships." Even while the mid-dies were relaxing their efforts, he was ordering instructors to tighten their requirements. Hence the slaughter in the January examinations, and the expulsion of 82 men from the academy.

It was a salutary lesson. The pity of it is that intelligent, respectable and presumably patriotic American youths should need such a lesson. For to shirk their duties and try to take advantage of their country—which feeds, clothes, houses and educates them free of charge—in the face of an imminent national need looks, to most civilians, little less than treason.

Swimming and Fighting

Here's a little sermon on preparedness from the New York Sun:

"We take it to be beyond dispute that nobody ought to learn to swim. Man being a terrestrial animal, it is impossible that he should ever find himself in water beyond his depth. Time and money spent in learning the art of swimming are therefore sheer waste—just as much so as if spent in military training. Obviously there is no more chance of a man's being drowned than there is of having to fight for his country."

It sounds ridiculous enough—as the Sun meant that it should. But there are people who talk just as ridiculously about military preparedness.

If there is any class of Americans more absurd than the jingoes who clamor for the biggest army and navy in the world, it's the pacifists who are so perfectly sure that there will never again be any need of fighting for our country.

The National Guard can be successfully used for defense in case of war, merely by asking permission of 48 governors and state legislatures every time an order is issued.

To make the literary society go, have a good refreshments committee.

There is of course danger of catching the grip at church Sunday morning, but it is perfectly safe to go to the dance Monday night.

The necessity of lowering the income tax exemption to $2,000 is patriotically advocated by all having incomes of $1,999 and under.

It seems to be difficult to fit up dairy barns with sanitary equipment, as it takes all the money to build garages.

LONGER SKIRTS; LESS FLIRTING.

Minneapolis, Minn., April 13.—Alderman William E. Currie's ordinance making women's short skirts longer and prohibiting flirting, is before the city council. Bachelor councilmen decline to admit that they have noticed any irregularities in this respect and married councilmen are afraid to admit that they have looked. The ordinance is not expected to pass.

MUSIC IN MEXICO.

Every Little Hamlet Has a Band Stand of Its Own.

A HELP IN THE GAME OF LOVE.

To the Strains of Melody the Youths and Maidens "Play Bear," a Peculiar National Diversion That is the Correct Road to Matrimony.

Music plays a very prominent part in the social life of Mexico, not alone in the capital and other larger cities, but all over that picturesque land. A Mexican who can play no musical instrument is nothing less than a curiosity. There is no hamlet so insignificant that it has no band. Eight or ten men get together and decide to form a band. Having reached that decision, they go to the jefe politico, or mayor.

"All right," he will tell them. "You are to play Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 and Sunday mornings from 9 to 12," and a record is made.

And during these hours, rain or shine, hot or cold, through famine, war and pestilence, as long as those men are alive and in the town, the band is in the band stand playing for such as choose to linger in the plaza, or public square.

About the evening concerts much of the social and domestic life of Mexico centers. It is at the concerts that many a youth and maiden first meet and begin to "play bear," a game indigenous and peculiar to Mexico, without which no self-respecting Mexican couple adventures on matrimony.

The general plan of every plaza is much the same. In the center is the band stand. Immediately surrounding the band stand is an open paved space. Then there are flower bordered walks with plenty of benches.

Round the edge of the plaza, outside the trees and flowers, is another broad paved walk. Upon this outer walk are grouped the poorer Mexicans, the peons. On the benches sit the fathers, the mothers, the older folk, of the better classes. Round the walk that surrounds the band stand saunter tirelessly the youths and maidens of the same class.

The women circle to the left on the outside, the men in the opposite direction, on the inside. Thus every one sees every one else innumerable times during the evening. And in this melodious circling a youth sets eyes on a maiden who strikes his fancy—the game of "playing bear" has begun.

He looks steadily at his charmer every time they pass, and she, if she is pleased, glances at him in return. After they have passed each other ten or a dozen times he is at the edge of the procession in which he walks, and she has moved to the edge of the column of young women.

Then the young man, with a friend, withdraws to some cantina, or cafe, and writes an ardent note. On the next round his friend in passing slips it into the hand of her companion. Then they continue their strolling until the concert is at an end.

On the next concert evening the performance is repeated, only this time the young lady is the one who presents the note, which she has written in her home. If she rejects her suitor's advances he persists or desists, according as he is faint hearted or not.

If he meets with success he begins the next phase of the game. Each evening he will be seen opposite his lady's house, passing back and forth like a sentry walking his post. Even during business hours he will rise suddenly from his stool, seize his hat, rush frantically to his accustomed beat and for several minutes walk up and down, gazing reproachfully at the barred windows across the way.

As time goes on, after six weeks or two months, say, have passed, the girl is at last to be seen seated in the window. Then ensues another period of from two weeks to a month. The young man's walks gradually shorten, and one evening he is to be seen underneath the window, gazing mournfully upward for hours, much to the discomfort of passersby. But no one grumbles. All the world loves a lover—especially in Mexico.

After this stage father and son call formally on the father of the young lady and make a proposal of marriage.

When all the arrangements have been made the young man for the first time calls at the home of his affianced wife and meets her face to face, but never except in the company of a third person—mother, father or aunt—Youth's Companion.

When Solid Iron Floats.

Experiments have shown that if a ball of solid iron be lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork, but that in a few seconds it will leave the prongs and rise to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball, due to heating, whereby it becomes, bulk for bulk, less dense than the molten metal.

Friendly Criticism.

Pennibs—Two of my latest poems appeared in the last issue of McDuff's Magazine. Inkerton—Yes; I noticed them. Pennibs—Would you mind giving me your opinion of them? Inkerton—Well, to be candid, I thought the one was awfully simple and the other simply awful.—Indianapolis Star.

Method makes men win. Thus is success reduced to the science of correct calculation.

HUNDRED LEADING HOOSIERS

James B. Eads (1820-1887)

James B. Eads, one of the world's greatest engineers and inventors was born in Lawrenceburg in 1820. Although his reputation was made outside the state, nevertheless Indiana claims him as one of her native sons. His passion for invention was manifested in early childhood and while in his teens he constructed models of sawmills, fire engines, and steamboats. At twenty-two he was engaged in the work of raising sunken steamers and many of the most valuable vessels which met with accidents in the Mississippi were saved by Eads. When the war broke out, President Lincoln summoned him to Washington and ordered him to construct iron-clad gunboats to use on southern and western rivers. Within one hundred days Eads designed, built and equipped eight such vessels which were used in the capture of Fort Henry, the siege of Vicksburg, and Mobile.

KNIFE IS SHOWN TO JURY

Efforts to Trip up Mrs. Boatright in Cross-Examination Prove to be Futile

Mrs. Cora Boatright, of Muncie, formerly of this city, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Robert Hester in every detail in the trial at Muncie of Jesse L. Arter, accused of the murder of Mrs. Hester's husband. Mrs. Boatright is a cousin of Mrs. Hester's, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richardson. The Muncie Press has the following concerning the trial.

A long knife, covered with the blood of Robert Hester was shown to a jury late Tuesday evening. It was once the prized possession of Jesse Lee Arter, and the state claims it inflicted the wounds which may send Arter to the electric chair. The blade is broken—presumably when the blade struck the nuckle plate of the stove in the Hester home last November. Arter's trial continued Wednesday with no disclosures of more than routine importance.

Dr. George R. Andrews, of the Home hospital where Hester was carried after the cutting, was the first witness to be placed on the stand for the state Wednesday morning. He said that the only evidence of life present in the body of Hester when it was carried into the hospital building were the "reflex actions" and that Hester probably was dead before the ambulance halted in front of the hospital building. Hester died from hemorrhages, induced by the severing of arteries and blood vessels in his right arm, Dr. Andrews testified.

"He had two gashes on the head and a deep wound starting from the left cheek bone, piercing the mouth walls into the mouth, and extended to the tip of his chin," the witness said. "His right arm was slashed for a distance of four inches and the large arteries and blood vessels were severed. He had a deep cut on the chest, extending from the neck down to the nipple."

"Would Mr. Hester have lived if he had been given medical attention within three to five minutes after the cutting?" inquired Attorney Miller. "Possibly so," said Dr. Andrews. Miller attempted to bring out a statement that Hester's kidneys and heart were affected and that this, rather than the stab wounds inflicted by Arter, caused the death. He was unsuccessful.

Mrs. Cora Boatright, a cousin of the widow, Mrs. Hester and a witness of the tragedy, was gruelled for more than an hour by the state and defense. She corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Hester. She told in practically the same words, of the attack of Arter upon Hester. Efforts of the defense to trip her up in the cross-examination were futile.

Apparently, the plan of the defense's case has shifted. Although to all indications of counsel the plea of the defense will be self-defense, nevertheless it was evidenced that the defense will weave its case hereafter about the assertion that Arter did not premeditate the murder and that it was done in a fit of almost insane anger.

COMMENTS ON ENTERPRISE

Bank Notes Contains Article About Local Bank Folder

A very favorable comment on the enterprise exerted by two prominent financial institutions here appears in a recent issue of Bank Notes as follows:

"The Peoples National Bank and The Peoples Loan and Trust Company of Rushville, Indiana, issued their recent joint statements in the form of an 8-page folder, the outer covers of which carried a striking, large half-tone picture of the bank building, ingeniously arranged so that the front side of the cover, when the circular is folded, shows only the front of the structure." The folder was favorably commented upon by several of the officials of The American Bankers Association from whom inquiries have been made for samples of the report. The new bank building is shown in the picture in such a way as to display it in a favorable light from the viewpoint of the architecture of the structure.

* LIKE OTHER SOLDIERS. *

(By United Press.)

London, April 13.—How the youthful, democratic Prince of Wales prefers an humble workman's cottage to a mansion in Northern France was told here today by a Methodist chaplain, just returned from the front.

"At a certain village," said the chaplain, "is a line of cottages and many times the Prince has slept on the floors of one of these humble homes. On the other side of the road is a beautiful old mansion, but the Prince preferred to live with the poor coal miner."

"I also saw the Prince 'doing his bit' at the front. He was often in danger and always went where his boys went."

AN ADAMLESS EDEN.

San Francisco, April 13.—When the steamer Chehalis sailed into a cove at Tahiti some time ago Tahitian maidens swam out and besought the sailors to desert their ship and live there. Most of the men of Tahiti have gone to the European war, and it has become an "Adamless Eden." Passengers arriving here on the steamer Moana brought the story.

CURIOUS MEALS.

Elephants Are Gormandizers, and Giraffes Have Queer Tastes.

Elephants, at least captive elephants, have queer tastes, says Pearson's Weekly in an entertaining article about the peculiarities of four legged gourmets. One memorable day in 1908 Sulla Cull, the mighty and popular Indian elephant at the zoo, ate his bed. A thirty-six pound truss of straw had been put down on the floor for his comfort, and when the keeper went round in the morning not even the bands of the truss remained.

Sulla Cull followed it up during the day by eating three trusses of hay, weighing 150 pounds. Finally some one brought a number of Christmas puddings into the elephant house. Sulla Cull swallowed his pudding without even opening the cardboard box that contained it.

A zoo keeper once kept a tally of the number of hot cross buns an elephant took down. For six hours on end one fine Good Friday it swallowed buns at the rate of 400 an hour!

The average giraffe loves nothing better in the world than a good square meal of flowers. It has not the slightest idea, however, of the difference between artificial and real flowers.

Some years ago when "garden hats" were all the rage the giraffe at the zoo made a day of it. In that glorious twelve hours it accounted for no fewer than seventeen hats, the majority of which were chewed beyond recognition before they could be rescued.

One of the funniest mistakes a giraffe ever made—funny for lookers-on, that is to say—was when a peacock strolled into its paddock. The peacock's tail caught the giraffe's eye, and evidently the animal mistook it for a gigantic and luxuriant species of flower. At any rate, before any one could interfere down came the giraffe's long neck, and, seizing the peacock by the tail, he hoisted it in midair. It was not long before bird and tail said goodbye to each other, and the peacock fluttered away, screaming with indignation. Although a trifle astonished at the proceedings of the newly discovered flower, the giraffe chewed the tail with great gusto.

JAPANESE GARDENS.

Their Aim Is Always to Represent Nature In Miniature.

Every Japanese house of any pretensions must have a garden. The cost of one is invariably reckoned with the estimates for house building, being usually estimated at one-tenth the cost of the house. The Japan Magazine tells of the procedure:

When the niwashi (landscape gardener) gets the contract for a garden he first makes a model—that is, a miniature garden embodying every feature that the final product will have. The first thing to be done in laying out the garden is to select the place for the lake or pond and excavate it. The earth thus obtained is utilized for the construction of an artificial hill and also for a small island, both of these features being considered necessities. Next in importance is the placing of the stone lantern; then comes an artistic bridge to the island. Next comes the placing of trees, rocks and stones with due consideration for the appearance of the garden as a whole.

Japanese do not place much value on a new garden, age being of far greater importance. It is not until a few years have passed that the garden is considered at its best, for the stones and tree trunks must be moss covered and the whole must give the appearance of nature's rather than man's work.

The garden is not laid out according to any scientific plan. It is rather a matter of instinct and experience, the aim of the artist being to represent nature in miniature.

ENDORSEMENT OF WILSON EXPECTED

New York Democrats Will Pledge Support to President at Jeffersonian Dinner Tonight.

WILL BE "HARMONY FEAST"

(By United Press.)

New York, April 13.—Democrats representing different factions are expected to pledge their support to policies of President Wilson at the annual Jeffersonian dinner given tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria by the National Democratic club.

The dinner, characterized in the announcement as a "harmony feast," will have among its chief guests Attorney General Thomas W. Gregory, Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri and Senator James D. Phelan, of California. They and other leaders of the party will deliver speeches. The committee in charge of the arrangements includes John W. Keller, chairman.

Thomas E. Rush, Surveyor of the Port; Stuart G. Gibboney, Thomas G. Smith, Secretary of Tammany Hall; Henry M. Oldfogel, formerly Representative in Congress; William A. Clark, one-time United States Senator from Montana.

Deming, N. M., April 13.—Little Jesus Paez is at the hospital here with his left leg amputated at the hip. Today it was announced that he will have a new leg the gift of Americans at Deming.

When Villa raided Columbus, Jesus was with his bandit father. He was told to hold his father's horse. The 12-year-old did so until an American bullet shattered his leg. As he dropped the Villa band turned and fled.

Jesus said today: "I thought Americans killed everybody they captured and I was afraid. I crawled away and hid in the brush. After a while a big soldier came and got me. He was good to me. They had to cut off my leg, but it didn't hurt much. Now I want to stay here and be a real American." Deming folk will give the boy a chance.

FIFTH OF SEED POOR QUALITY

Samples of Oats Sent to Purdue For Examination Reveal Bad State of Affairs

TESTS MADE OF 272 SAMPLES

Average Germination is Only 83.3 Per cent—Many Profit by Laboratory Investigations

The extent to which Indiana seed oats were damaged is shown in the report of Miss Cora Jacobs of the Purdue Seed Laboratory. With few exceptions the samples sent were taken from oats that the farmers intended to plant. About one-fifth of the oats were of poor quality. Some of these were totally unfit for seeding purposes. Some had a low vitality but if the farmer knew of this he was able to plant enough extra seed to obtain a satisfactory stand.

Tests were made of 727 samples. Of these 390 samples germinated between 90 per cent and 100%, 192 germinated from 80% to 89.5%, 81 germinated from 50% to 79.5%, 21 germinated from 25% to 49.5% and 35 germinated below 25%.

The average germination of all 727 samples was 83.3%. This average means very little to the individual farmers. Three neighbors may have had oats with a vitality respectively of 95%, 85% and 15%. The average of the three samples is only 65% and yet the man with the poor oats was able to find plenty of good seed oats. The large number of samples growing well shows that this was the conditions this season. Four-fifths had a vitality of 91.4. This shows conclusively that there was no lack of good oats. One twentieth of the samples tested germinated below 25%. This, again, shows the chance that the farmer took in planting oats of whose growing quality he knew nothing.

Many farmers have profited this season by the work of the Seed Laboratory. Unfortunately some have neglected to send in samples until so recently that the reports may reach them too late to prevent a poor stand and much extra work.

It is with great pleasure that I write these lines of praise for your wonderful kidney and bladder remedy. I had kidney trouble so bad I became very much alarmed. I had tried various kidney remedies I heard of but without relief. I sincerely hope my words will be the means of restoring many other sufferers of kidney and bladder trouble to good health.

MAGIC OF A LIQUID

Sulphuric Acid Plays a Big Part In Our Daily Life.

ITS LOSS WOULD BE TRAGIC.

We Could Hardly Live Without the Help of This Wonderful Agent of Science That Makes Possible Many of Our Arts and Industries.

When you get up in the morning and turn on the water for your bath you use a nickel plated faucet which required sulphuric acid in its manufacture. Your tub, if it be enameled, has met sulphuric acid before it became what it is, and if it is an old fashioned one of tin, plated on sheet copper, it needed even more sulphuric acid before it took its place in civilization as a bathtub.

The water in which you bathe has probably been treated with sulphate of copper to clear it of algae. The towel with which you dry yourself has met sulphuric acid before you bought it, and the soapmaker possibly found it necessary to use some in the preparation of your soap.

The bristles of your hairbrush have been treated with it. The back of your hairbrush as well as your comb, if both be of celluloid, could not be produced without it. Your razor before it reached its present high estate has very likely been pickled in sulphuric acid after it was annealed.

As you put on your underwear, says a writer in Commerce and Finance, you may recall that the bleacher and the dyer used sulphuric acid on the thread before it was knit or woven or upon the fabric afterward.

As you button up your outer garments you may be reminded also that sulphuric acid was needed in scouring the wool, in making the dye and in the process of dyeing the cloth.

The button maker needed some before your buttons were complete. The tanner needed some in making the leather for your shoes, and it is also used to produce shoe polish. The cushion upon which you may rest your pious knees in your devotions has met sulphuric acid in one way or another more than once before it reached its present dignity.

At breakfast your cup and saucer may have come into being without the aid of sulphuric acid, but only provided they are plain white without decorative gilt. To produce the constituents of aqua regia, which dissolved the gold, sulphuric acid is used. The silver of which your spoon, knife and fork are made may come from a sulphuric acid works which has first burned the ore, while if they are silver plated they were plated in a sulphuric acid bath.

The farmer who raised the wheat of which your rolls are made probably used acid phosphate on his land to encourage the wheat to grow. Acid phosphate is phosphate rock and sulphuric acid.

The paper maker needed some sulphonated aniline blue to tint your morning paper even if he used no sulphite pulp, and it would be a rare ink that is innocent of the touch of sulphuric acid at some point in its history.

If you eat buckwheat cakes with sirup the sirup needed it, and as for your artificial light, if you get up early enough to need it, you would be driven back to candles if it were not for this product. It is needed in the refining of kerosene and gasoline, and as for your electric light, brought to you by currents of electricity through copper wires, where would the electric industry be without copper? And where would the copper industry be without the electrolytic process of refining, which requires enormous quantities of sulphuric acid? It would be paralyzed.

We have heard of the embarrassment of industry by the lack of German dyes, but this is a mere bagatelle compared with the general breakup that would follow a dearth of sulphuric acid. We can neither go to war and have smokeless powder, nor can we live in peace without it. Wherever you go in civilization you cannot get out of its path.

You may never see it, you may not know its qualities and its very remarkable chemical personality, and you had better not touch it, but almost invariably it has been around before you.

All of this will explain but a fraction of the all pervasive usefulness of sulphuric acid in the arts of what we call civilization. And its use is constantly growing along with the development of chemical industry and the science of agriculture.

Origin of "Gentleman."

It is quite commonly held that the word gentleman is made from the two words "gentle" and "man," but this is not the case. Originally the word was spelled "gentleman" and signified literally a Christian convert.

Lady comes from the old Anglo-Saxon and signifies "to serve a loaf." It was applied to the mistress of the house as the one who served the bread.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water
before breakfast to wash
out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any drugstore in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Santal Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Santal Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury
Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

COSTS MORE TO LIVE IN LONDON

Good Prices Are Higher There
Than in New York—Applies
Also to Other Provinces.

TAXES ARE STILL GOING UP

Beef Retails at 40 Cents a Pound—
Soft Coal Selling at $7.80 Per Ton.

BY CHAS. P. STEWART.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, April 13.—It cost more to live in London today than it costs to live in New York.

It costs more to live in the smaller cities and towns of England's provinces than it costs to live in the cities and towns of the United States.

Cleveland, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Dallas, San Francisco, Portland are cheaper places to live than Sheffield, Liverpool, Manchester, Hull and English cities like that.

Nevertheless, Britishers returning today from the United States insist their country still is the cheaper for the masses.

Their mistake lies in the fact that the English do without many things Americans consider absolute necessities. Most such things are so high in England today that only plutocrats can have them.

Practically the only exception in England's favor is clothing; and even clothing is higher. A good sack suit, English fit, which used to cost $20, now sells for $22.50. The price is still rising.

So are other prices. It is not a gradual rise. Hardly a day passes that an advance of 5 or 10 per cent is not announced in some staple.

Beef is 40 cents, mutton 28, pork 28; hardly any lamb is to be had; the killing of calves is prohibited; bread 9 cents a 2-pound loaf; good butter 42 cents; tea 52 cents; very soft coal $7.80 a ton; anthracite $11.28.

Rentals are about the same as in the United States but include nothing.

Cooking and lighting gas in a 5-room flat cannot be kept below $10 or $12 monthly.

Telephone calls are 6 cents each.

A 5-mile street car ride costs 7 cents.

Cigars which would be dear in the United States at a nickel a piece, retail in England at 14 cents.

The distilleries being used by the government for munition making, it is predicted that whiskey which sold at 78 to 96 cents a bottle will soon retail at $2.40.

The income tax has risen until it is a fearful burden. It begins with incomes of 130 pounds ($624) yearly. The assessment increases more than proportionately as the income grows larger. A man earning $2,500 annually, pays 36 cents on every $4.80. If his income is from invested capital the rate is much higher.

The net result is that an English family, moving to America and continuing to live according to the English standard, would have more money than at home, while an American family moving to England and continuing to live according to the American standard, would have materially less.

MASKED TUAREGS

Ruthless Buccaneers of the Middle Sahara Desert.

AT WAR WITH ALL MANKIND.

These Nomads of the Trackless Sands of Northern Africa Levy Tribute Upon All Caravans They Meet and Live in Mystery and Exclusiveness.

"In northern Africa there lies a truculent country, inhabited by a people, the masked Tuaregs, fascinating for the mystery and exclusiveness with which they have surrounded their life. These people, natives and rulers of the middle desert, are the allies of no one, but wage a furtive guerrilla warfare with all who invade the inhospitable Sahara sands of their domain. They are the buccannery of the trackless sand, forever at war with all civilization and its restraints," says an article issued by the National Geographic society at Washington, which describes the people always willing to fight for the maintenance of their power to levy tribute upon the ancient trans-Saharan caravan routes.

"Masked Tuaregs are Berber nomads, a white desert people, whose country is probably the most inaccessible on earth. Even before Egyptian civilization began to leave coherent records of its history the Tuaregs, or Berbers, were long established along northern Africa. The great Arab invasion of the eleventh century displaced them from their possessions upon the seacoast and drove them into the savage area of the interior desert, where, with their hands raised against all who came into their pathless country, they have maintained themselves through the intervening centuries despite lack of water, sandstorms and lack of farming land, requisitioning by force of arms from the Arabs and Egyptians, to the north and east, and from the blacks of the Sudan, in the south, such necessities and luxuries as their cheerless portion of Mother Earth cannot supply them.

"There are five main tribes in the Tuareg confederation, and they inhabit the desert from Tuat to Timbuktu and from Fezzan to Zinder. Their homes are roamed in the heart of arid wastes, where vast solitudes, unnatural heats and unmarked distances shroud everything in uncanny mystery. They are masters of an area half that of the United States in extent. Of this 1,500,000 square miles of territory scarcely 3,000 acres, or less than the area of New York city, is cultivated land. This scanty farm land is only maintained by an enduring struggle with the drifting sands. These fierce adventurers who have forced the great desolation to yield them a support number 300,000 or more, according to estimate, and they have made themselves feared by the natives from the Mediterranean to the jungles of central Africa.

"The Tuaregs wear the end of their turban cloth drawn around the face, allowing nothing but the eyes to be seen. It is worn for the purpose of protecting the throat and lungs from the cutting blasts of fine desert sand and also probably as an element enhancing the mystery of their life, for they seldom or never remove these masks, which hang over the desert or visiting the cities on the coast. Due to these cloths they are called masked Tuaregs, while the Arabs call them 'people of the veil.' The masks are dark blue and white, the former being worn by Tuareg nobles and the latter by the serfs and slaves.

"Some centers for trade, Tuareg towns, are situated in the middle desert. These are Wargla, Timbuktu, Ghat, Ghadames, Murzuk and Insalah. However, the Tuaregs have little care for trade and industry. He is a fearless, enduring, hard fighting adventurer along the merchandise trails that cross the desert. Two important trails leave Tripoli, on the coast, and traverse 3,000 miles of sands and barren wastes to the Sudan, where rich cargoes of skins, gold, ivory and other interior African products are loaded upon camels and brought northward. Sometimes a single caravan consists of thousands of camels and merchandise to the value of hundreds of thousands of dollars. When passing through the Tuareg country the leaders of such caravans have had to pay a tribute to the chieftains by the way for safe escort or run the risk of losing all their goods.

"From Morocco to Tripoli the relentless ferocity, the cunning and the daring of the Tuaregs are mingled in all the traditions unpleasant to the more peaceful natives along the coast. The Tuaregs meanwhile, openly spy upon the caravans in course of outfitting in the coast cities and thrive upon the tribute they are able to exact.

"The Tuaregs are of the purest Berber stock, the noble families unmixed with other blood, and in their own language they call themselves 'the noble people.' Nominally they are Mohammedans, and some of their number compose the most intolerant and warlike sect in Islam, the Senussite sect. Their hatred for the foreigner is greater even than that bred by their religion, and so they are more exclusive than ever were the Chinese or Japanese. Their social organization divides them into five classes—the nobles, the priests, the serfs, the cross breeds and the slaves. All of these classes have this that is democratic—they form together the Tuareg family, which holds itself superior to all the other peoples of the earth."

WAR MEAT ORDERS BOOSTING PRICES

Advances Several Cents a Pound in
Last Few Days and Will Soar
Even Higher.

PREDICTIONS OF DEALERS

New York, April 13.—Meat has advanced several cents a pound in the last three weeks and will soar higher, Washington Market dealers said today. Fresh and smoked meats and fowl have gone up 2 and 3 cents a pound. Veal is the cheapest commodity for the housewife.

The demand of the Allies has boosted the price of meat. New York, Chicago and Kansas City houses are filing orders for Europe as fast as they can. A Chicago packing firm contracted for 26,000,000 pounds of meat for the Allies two weeks ago. The orders are more desirable, dealers assert, than supplying the demands in the United States, as the minute a foreign order is placed aboard a boat for shipment it is paid for in American gold.

"We are helpless," said Emile Joseph, one of the largest retailers in the market. "The packers advance the price, and we either have to boost the same or suffer. They offer only one excuse—a big demand."

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY.

Portland, Ore., April 12.—Thousands of gorgeously plumbed Chinese pheasants infesting the highways and byways of this city today are making life a burden for Portland housewives and property owners. Apparently they belong to no one in particular. Game laws and anti-firearm city ordinances prevent their slaughter. So the birds continue to rip out spring gardens fly through windrows into the bosoms of families and to play non generally. Mayor Albee has refused S. J. Claridge and other citizens permission to shoot the pheasants, but has instructed the police force members to "shoot" the critters away as much as possible.

Blind Hero, Cupid, The Girl And Incubator Have Parts In Romance

(By United Press.)

London, April 13.—Down in Wokingham, a little village nestled in the Surrey Hills, not far from London, George Fleetwood, 26, former British soldier, was married today.

Just about a year ago today, Fleetwood crawled over the top of a British trench near Armentiers, in Northern France, and charged with his comrades toward the German lines. Machine guns sputtered and half way across "No man's Land" Fleetwood fell. Hours later ambulance men carried him to the rear. A busy military surgeon made a brief examination of a wound in Fleetwood's head.

"Probably blind for life if he recovers at all," was the hurried diagnosis.

A month passed and Fleetwood was sent to a hospital in London. The surgeon's snap verdict at the base hospital was correct. He was blind for life. The patient recovered and was discharged from the hospital. A nurse led him by the arm to St. Dunstan's school for blinded soldiers, the prettiest spot in the heart of London.

It took a few moments' conference with C. A. Pearson, superintendent of St. Dunstan's—former editor of the London Daily Express who also is blind—to map out Fleetwood's career. Besides the government pension of about $6 a week he owns an acre and a half of ground in the Surrey Hills. Fleetwood decided to raise chickens.

St. Dunstan's chicken school is the only institution of its kind in the world. In it Fleetwood learned to tell a Leghorn from a Plymouth Rock, or any other breed, by touch! how to tell a bag egg from a good one; how to pull an incubator apart and put it together again and various other things.

He also took a thorough course in St. Dunstan's wood working school and learned to build chicken houses, fences and coops. In the basket making department he learned how baskets are made, also how to plot his chicken yard with hand rails and boards so that by touch of hand or foot he will know his exact location.

Then came Cupid. Right into the school.

Women—some of them from fashionable London—go to St. Dunstan's to talk and read to the blind men. One of these young women met Fleetwood. She liked his looks and he liked her voice. For weeks she accompanied him to the chicken school and during spare hours she read to him.

One day Fleetwood told her about the little chicken farm in Surrey, outlined his plans and bluntly proposed. The girl was so astonished she accepted.

Today, in the little church at Wokingham, the romance had its climax. Among the wedding gifts was an incubator which followed behind the nuptial carriage to the little chicken farm.

CENTENNIAL NEWS LETTER

(Issued by the Indiana Historical Commission)

The Franklin County pageant in the first week in June is being written by Professor Charlton Andrews of Columbia University, New York.

The Kokomo Dispatch has issued an Indiana Centennial edition of ten thousand copies. The Bloomington World-Courier is preparing a similar issue.

The Vincennes School Board has selected names for the local public schools which will be used instead of numbers, among them being: George Rogers Clark, William Henry Harrison, Tecumseh, Francis Vigo, Lincoln, and James Whitcomb Riley. Good!

Here is the right ring from the Monticello Journal: "Nothing short of a great calamity of some kind or the end of the world could stop White County's Centennial celebration from being the biggest and grandest affair that was ever pulled off in the county." Real Hoosier spirit there!

The Indiana Historical Commission proposes to issue a public statement soon, dividing the counties of the State into the Quick or the Dead, on the basis of Centennial preparations now under way. County chairmen will please take notice. A few will have to hurry to get out from under.

The Woman's Club of Salem held an "Indiana" open meeting, April 4, the One Hundred and Second Anniversary of the founding of that historic town. Most appropriate decorations and the collection of a splendid exhibit of historic relics featured the evening. An address was delivered by Director W. C. Woodward of the Historical Commission.

South Bend and Notre Dame University, led by County Chairman F. A. Miller and President John Cavanaugh, respectively, made the northern meeting of the Historical Commission most enjoyable and profitable. The St. Joseph Valley, both historically and scenically, offers rare possibilities for the pageant which is being prepared for presentation on the banks of the beautiful St. Joseph river.

At St. Mary-of-the-Woods College Miss Gertrude Schultz, member of the Senior class, has just completed an artistic dramatization of "Alice of Old Vincennes." The play will be presented by the Seniors of the College and the graduating Class of the Academy during Commencement week, which will be "Indiana Week" at St. Mary-of-the-Woods. The final essays of the class of 1916 of the Academy or High School are all on Indiana subjects.

"Get to thinking! Lay Plans! Clean up! Plant flowers." is the quadruple slogan of the Huntington Committee which is engaging to see that the town presents a spic and span appearance at the time of the Dubois County celebration in September. Holland, in the same county, is preparing to beautify its school grounds with flowers and shrubs and to erect a Centennial brick arch over the entrance, each citizen to contribute a brick. Carry the news to Goldub!

commended most heartily: "The extensive celebration this year of Indiana's Centennial as a State is, after all, going to mean very much more than a mere transitory spectacle that shall entertain its thousands for the moment. It is going to tell a wondrous story and impress upon the minds of all a grasp of the history of the State that will endure as long as they shall live. It is highly gratifying to note that those in charge of the work are going about it with this purpose in view. There is to be nothing of the Street Fair, nothing of the cheap carnival, and nothing of the tawdry about the undertaking. Instead, we are to have the story of Indiana's start, Indiana's growth, and Indiana's achievement presented in such form as to make every Hoosier still prouder of his State and infinitely better acquainted with its history."

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing the mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Liquid blue is a weak solution, avoid it. Buy Red Cross Ball Blue, the blue that's all blue.

BIG EVENT IN STATE HISTORY

Pageant at Indiana University
Celebrating Centennial Will be Model For Others.

DATES ARE MAY 16, 17, 18

Will be "Historical Spectacle Showing Development of Bloomington and I. U."

Bloomington, Ind., April 13.—One of the most important events in the history of Indiana University, not only from the standpoint of students and alumni of the University but also from that of teachers and citizens throughout the State, will be the Pageant of Bloomington and Indiana University, to be held on the campus here May 16, 17, and 18. This will be the first of Indiana's centennial celebrations and, as it is being designed to serve as a model for other communities to follow, will, no doubt, bring many people here from all parts of the State.

Since the Pageant takes place at the most favorable time in the year for making trips automobile and by rail, students in the University are planning to make the third week in May the occasion for entertaining home folks and showing them about the campus, at a time which makes it famous as one of Indiana's most beautiful bits of scenery. The Indiana Alumni Association plans a general reunion for the old grads at this time. A baseball game with Ohio State University will be a special attraction for Pageant week. The University and city authorities extend a warm invitation to all Hoosiers to be here for the opening of Indiana's one hundredth Anniversary celebration and are making elaborate arrangements to take care of hundreds of visitors.

The Pageant will be a historic spectacle showing, with striking realism, the development of Bloomington and the State University from the time the first white settler came into Monroe county down to the present day. Hundreds of students and townspeople will take part, many of them direct descendants of the most influential pioneers and the most noted educators in the history of community and State. The University orchestra of forty-five pieces and the University glee clubs of more than one hundred voices will furnish the music.

The Pageant will be held in a natural setting of trees and shrubbery near Kirkwood Observatory. The performance will be repeated each day for three days, at about four o'clock in the afternoon, and will require about two hours. Bleachers with a seating capacity of more than three thousand will be erected.

Garrets and closets in and about Bloomington are being ransacked for relics and costumes of the old days for use in the coming Pageant. Wherever suitable costumes and other necessary materials can not be found, Mr. Langdon will have them made. The University owns a large collection of early agricultural implements, household furniture and Indian relics which will be of great value in the Pageant.

The Pageant is divided into twelve episodes, which show the stages of development of this community at different periods. The early scenes will picture the arrival of the settlers in the wilderness, the troubles with the Indians, the laying out of Bloomington, the auctioneering of town lots, and old-fashioned pioneer dances. Later scenes and dialogue will portray the establishment of the old Indiana Seminary, the early methods of teaching, and the many trials and steady growth of the institution.

At one stage of the drama, there will be a real fire, to show the burning of the University building in 1883. The final episode will be a grand climax in which all the characters of the entire Pageant will unite in paying supreme tribute to the State and Nation. Dancing, pantomime and massed choral and

EXPERIMENTS WITH RATS

Trying to Find Food That Will Give Efficiency to Human Beings.

(By United Press.)

Madison, Wis., April 13.—After experimenting for 7 years on 1,000 rats, to find the ingredients of the food that will make human beings live the most efficient lives, Prof. E. V. McCollum, it was learned today, has just obtained his first satisfactory results and expects to be ready to prescribe the perfect food before long.

McCollum still is in search of the chemical parts of two unknown compounds that he must have. He chooses the food for his rats as carefully as though they were dyspeptic millionaires. Some of the long tailed boys and girls have grown to be quite chummy with the professor.

SKY BLUE MUSTACHES

New York, April 13.—Do you remember, in "Ten Thousand a Year," how Tittlebat Titmouse's hair turned a brilliant bottle green because he used cheap dye on his clay locks? Wholesale druggists here today said real hair dye is practically off the market because of the war—so if hair-dyers don't want emerald thatches, lavender beards and sky-blue mustaches, let them beware. The druggists look for an epidemic of bona-fide blondes and the coming to light of many unsuspected "gray ones."

TO MAKE 100 SPEECHES

Des Moines, Ia., April 13.—The round up of the Iowa campaign for votes for women opened here today with the arrival of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, international suffrage leader, who will give her time from now until the election in November, to the campaign delivering at least 100 speeches in every county in the state. Later in the campaign Mrs. Catt probably will travel in a special car attached to regular trains, escorted by state leaders.

OREGON DELEGATES FAVOR MRS. COWLES

Will be Instructed to Vote For Her at General Federation of Women's Clubs Convention.

GAVE UP RACE TWO YEARS AGO

(By United Press.)
Portland, Ore., April 13.—The 40 Oregon delegates to the biennial session of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in New York May 22 will be instructed to vote for Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles for the federation presidency. Other western delegates are expected to vote for her, also.

Mrs. Cowles, they argue, gave up her aspirations for the presidency two years ago that California might be designated the last meeting place. There will be 30,000 delegates representing 2,000,000 women at the big convention.

Mrs. Charles H. Castner of Hood River, president of the state organization, and Mrs. J. A. Pettit, general secretary, are delegates.

The state federation has selected other delegates as follows: Mrs. Sarah A. Evans; Mrs. J. W. Tift; Mrs. Jewel Bruce; Mrs. L. H. Addison and Mrs. John McRoberts of Portland; Mrs. Gardner M. Thayer of Oswego and Mrs. W. T. Reeves of Stanfield.

CARRANZISTAS FIRE ON U. S. MEN; WITHDRAWAL ASKED

CITIZENS JOIN IN THE ATTACK

Troopers do Not Return Fire at Parral, Mexico And No Cas-
ualties Are Reported

FUNSTON DENOUNCES THEM

Declares De Facto Government Has Failed to Co-Operate With
American Government

TWO BIG QUESTIONS AT CRITICAL STAGE

Washington, April 13.—The administration today faced the two big questions—Mexico and the submarine issue—at the most critical stages since either became an issue. The next moves in either case may bring on a real crisis.

(By United Press.)

San Antonio, April 13.—Carranza soldiers and citizens in Parral fired on American troops when the latter marched through the city,
Consul Fletcher reported to Major General Funston today, quoting advices from General Gutierrez, the de facto commander at Parral. There were no casualties.

General Gutierrez adopted a complaining attitude in his advice to Fletcher. The Carranzistas had no idea the Americans were so far south, he declared, and were surprised by the marching powers of the men. The Mexican general's dispatches were interpreted to mean the Carranzistas did not intend to permit the Americans to progress so far into Mexico.

One hundred and forty soldiers believed to be part of Major Tompkin's command comprised the force that passed Parral, Fletcher reported.
The Americans kept on marching, paying little attention to the firing.

Funston flatly denounced the Carranzistas as failing to co-operate with the Americans. He pointed out that they have twice allowed Villa to slip through their lines.

Prepared for any eventuality the American forces will continue their hunt for Villa until orders to discontinue their chase are received from the war department or Villa is killed or captured, Funston said. He denied the American advance forces are in danger in case the supplies should be cut off. He intimated he had full confidence in the ability of the Americans to take care of themselves.

It was considered evident at headquarters that Gutierrez held the Americans responsible for the shooting at Parral.

Letcher's dispatches did not make clear whether the American troops returned the fire. He reported the force numbering about 140 men. The same dispatches, however, mentioned an "exchange" of shots.

farmer of Noble township, who is 70 years old today. Mr. Heaton has lived on the Heaton homestead all his life and is quite active.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 13.—In a twenty-five minute conference with Secretary Lansing this afternoon
Mexican Ambassador Arredondo presented General Carranza's suggestion for the withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. After the conference Arredondo was retired.

(By United Press.)

Washington, April 13.—General
Carranza has prepared a demand for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico. The state department had not yet received this demand at noon today and no comment was made.

In advance of actual receipt of the demand and before the administration's policy had been formulated, a high administration official hinted broadly to the United Press that it is doubtful whether this government will meet such a demand.

Carranza's note is in the hands of the Mexican embassy here. It is in no sense an ultimatum or a demand, it was said at the embassy. It was characterized rather as a "request" for negotiations looking to the withdrawal of troops.

Long correspondence is believed inevitable and in the meantime the chase of Villa will be conducted with almost energy.

High Military Official Says Break is Inevitable if Carranza's
Request Isn't Granted

DE FACTO TROOP MOVEMENTS

(By United Press.)

Columbus, N. M., April 13.—(Censored) A high military official at the base camp here today expressed the belief that it was inadvisable for the American troops to withdraw from Mexico at present but that if Carranza's request was not granted a break was inevitable.

Many officers were of the opinion that Carranza's wishes would be respected and the troops would be withdrawn. All declared the taking up by Carranza troops of strategic position commanding American supply lines was significant.
The officers believe the de facto troops were sent to their places for moral effect to support the request.

Rush county has received a check for $1,252 as its share of the annual distribution of the permanent endowment fund of Indiana University. The state distributed a total of $144,600 among the ninety-two counties. This amount it to be placed in the common school fund and will draw interest at the rate of six per cent. The permanent endow-

Rush county amounts to about $6,

EXEMPTION TIME IS NEAR ENDING

April 29 Will be Last Day For Filing This Year Because April
30 is on Sunday

CAN SAVE $28.42 IN THIS CITY

The final day for filing mortgage exemptions is April 29. The time this year is cut one day shorter because the last day of April falls on Sunday. The exemptions have to be filed with the county auditor. So far the exemptions have been coming in rather slowly and unless the rush appears soon many people will be forced to pay more taxes because of not having taken advantage of the $700 exemption. In Rushville City the exemption means a saving of $28.42.

The exemptions can be made out by any notary or justice of peace and the only part the auditor plays in the exemption business is that they are filed with him.

British Believe it Sufficient Since
Germans Admit Attacking Un-

NONE OTHER SENT DOWN THEN

(By United Press.)

London, April 13.—Positive proof that the Sussex was torpedoed was seen by British officials today in the German admission that an unidentified vessel was attacked by a submarine in the same place and at practically the same time the Channel liner was damaged.

It is officially stated that no other vessel was torpedoed in the Chan-

Mrs. Carl Beher sustained a bad-

the home of A. G. Haydon. She was pulling a dead limb from a tree and it became unfastened easier than she expected and as a result Mrs. Beher was precipitated to the ground. In falling her ankle turned under her body. No bones were broken, but the injury was quite painful.

CLEVENGER CASE SET FOR MONDAY

"Bootlegging" Trial Promises to be Stuhsborn Struggle From Preparations Made

IT MAY REQUIRE TWO DAYS

The case against Martin Clevenger, charged with "bootlegging" will start in circuit court next Monday before Judge Sparks and a jury.
Both sides were busy today getting out their list of witnesses and handing the names to the sheriff.

The case has attracted considerable attention and it is understood that Clevenger will make a stubborn fight. He is said to have called about forty witnesses to testify in his behalf. A large number of these are character witnesses and include some of the prominent men of the city. Because of the large number of witnesses the case is expected to require at least two days. The court ordered a special venire of ten men for the trial.

JAMES GERAGHTY A VICE-PRESIDENT

Rushville Man Elected Official of Master Horseshoers of Indiana at Lafayette.

RAISE PRICE FROM $1.50 to $2.

James Geraghty of this city was elected first vice-president of the Master Horseshoers of Indiana at the annual meeting which closed yesterday in Lafayette. The next meeting of the association will be held in Evansville.

A resolution was passed at the convention authorizing Master Horseshoers to increase the price of horseshoeing from $1.50 to $2 a horse. The war and the passing of the carriage horse have put a crimp in the blacksmith's bank roll and the increase was deemed necessary.

The resolution stated that most of the horses are hard to handle, and as metal used in the work has advanced in price due to the war, it was necessary to make a corresponding increase in the price of the work.

PASSED CHECK IN ORANGE

Ralph Pitman will be given a hearing before Squire Kratzer one week from Friday on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. It is alleged that he gave a check to J.
G. Reed, a blacksmith of Orange for $1.60 without having the necessary funds in the bank.

RECALLS EVENTS REQUESTED TO OF 29 YEARS AGO NAME DELEGATES

Witness in the Hudson-Binford Suit
Tells of Conversation he Heard in 1887

CLAIM FOR $7,000 AT ISSUE

Witness Says Late Jared Binford
Agreed to Take Care of Harry.
Hudson "As a Son."

Evidence in the case of Harry Hudson against the estate of Jared Binford, being heard in circuit court before Judge Alonzo Blair and a jury, goes as far back at 1887 and one witness related a conversation occurring in 1897. Hudson, who was practically reared by Mr. Binford, demands $7,000 on a claim against the estate.

The case dates from the time
Hudson was eleven years old, in 1887, and went to make his home with the Binfords. One witness testified that Mr. Binford and Hudson's parents reached an agreement whereby the boy was to go to the Binford home. He was promised an education, and according to the witness "would be taken care of as a son."

The suit has attracted more than passing attention. A large number of Ripley township people are witnesses. The late Mr. Binford was from Ripley township. Mr. Hudson left the Binford home shortly after he was twenty-one years old.

Lee Wooten, of Knightstown, formerly in the dry-goods business in Carthage testified to a conversation he had with the late Mr. Binford in 1897. Binford had just purchased some more land and according to Wooten stated that as "Harry had been a good boy to work he wanted to give him a farm some day."

Rolland Hill of Carthage testified that he believed Hudson was entitled to $4,000 from the estate for labor performed. He based his figures on an estimate made before taking the witness stand. According to his figures he had a sliding scale allowing Hudson a little more each year or in groups of five year periods.

For the first five years Hudson worked for Mr. Binford Hill would have allowed him fifty cents a day.
When asked on cross-examination if he did not think this a little high he replied that it was not if he had worked for Jared Binford. The case is expected to go to the jury
by tomorrow afternoon.

The Trackwell-Irvin fish "farm" suit ended this morning shortly before noon. Miss Susie Brown, one of the defendants until yesterday when Judge Springer found for her,
was on the stand again this morning.
No time has been set for the final argument.

The case of the International Harvester Company against Owen Sweet on a note demanding $95 was dismissed and the costs paid.

Judge Sparks found for the White-Haines Optical Company against Charles Younger on an account and rendered judgment for $92.20.

Judge Sparks this afternoon granted a motion to retax the costs in the Jacksonian receivership case.
By granting the motion the court held that the Mergenthaler company, owners of the linotype machine was not responsible for any of the costs in the receivership. About $37 was involved.

County Commissioners Urged to Send Representatives to Sixth
District Road Meeting

WILL BE AT CAMBRIDGE CITY

Proposed to Formulate a Plan to Get Passage of State Highway Commission Law.

A Sixth district highway meeting will be held in Cambridge City on April 26 and the commissioners of Rush county have been asked to appoint five delegates to attend.
There is a growing sentiment for a state highway department in order to secure federal aid in the building of roads and the meeting in Cambridge City is called at the request of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce.

It is proposed to formulate some plan of action before the next legislature in getting a law passed to create a state highway commission and a highway department. The mayors of many cities have been asked to appoint delegates and it is expected that the meeting will attract a large crowd. The question has not yet been presented to the commissioners.

The letter from the Richmond Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the fact that Indiana is one of the few exceptions in the United States where there is no state highway department. It is stated that an organization for the furtherance of this commendable project was formed at Richmond April 5 of this year.

At this meeting it was suggested that state-wide co-operation be obtained by county and district organizations so that by the time the next legislature meets a model bill will have been prepared and there will be a universal and active demand for its passage.

DIES IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Minnie Guffin Lumb, formerly of this city, died very suddenly in Chicago Tuesday, her death coming as a result of heart trouble.
She is a daughter of the late Harry Guffin. Her mother, Mrs. Harry Guffin recently had the misfortune to break her hip and is now scarcely able to be about on crutches. Mrs.
Dora Wood of this city has gone to Chicago to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lumb.

ROAD PETITION

A petition for a gravel road on the township line of Posey and Ripley township has been filed with the county auditor. The petition will be given a hearing on May 1 and viewers appointed.

The Rev. A. P. Waller of Newcastle comes to the Second M. E. church here instead of the Second Baptist church as was stated yesterday.

Boring and Buildin'

Talk about yourself and ye are a bore, advertise and ye are listened to.

There is a curious law of human nature back of this. Talk is cheap. Advertising costs definite dollars and people know it.

They take it that you would not spend your money unless you had something to say.

They regard advertising as matter of direct interest to them.
They read it and they buy advertised goods and patronize stores that advertise.

The daily newspaper is the great advertising message bearer.

CENSOR KEEPS TAB ON THE MAIL

Letter from Rushville Boy With American Expedition Tells Nothing of Movements.

ODEN: SOMMERVILLE WRITES

Declares he Will Have Something Interesting to Relate on His Return Home.

A letter from Oden Sommerville, who is in Mexico with the American expedition, to his mother, Mrs. Christian Fox, 417 West First street serves as an example of the way the army is keeping its movements secret. As a missive to tell something of the campaign to catch Villa, it is worthless. Sommerville says that he is not allowed to say anything of his company's whereabouts or their experiences, but that he will have plenty of stories to tell when he arrives home.

"I received your letter some few days ago and it did me more good than any letter I ever received for if ever any man wanted to hear from home it was me. It made me think I was close to God's country anyway," Sommerville says.

"This is certainly some country here. All you can see is sand and mountains and it is hot in the day time and cold at night. We are 7,500 feet above sea level. So you can tell by that how the weather is and I think we will go higher yet. That is what everybody says.

"I would tell you a lot more but I can not for all our mail is read before it can leave here and there are certain things we are now allowed to write, but I can tell you those later.

"I am feeling fine with the exception of a little cold, but that is not anything new for me for I have one all the time. You tell Ferd (his brother) if he doesn't write to me that I said we would have it out when I get home and that is not a long way off either.

"You want to overlook this writing for if you could see the position I am in you would. I am flat on my stomach and writing on a board about two inches wide. I am about out of paper so I will close."

The envelope shows the "O. K." of the censor who saw to it that Sommerville said nothing interesting. Sommerville says he can get neither paper, envelopes or stamps and asks his mother to send him some.

SCHOOL HEADS

BLAME MOTHERS

Say Parents Neglect Primary Health Rules

That many school children are being allowed to become chronically constipated through parent's oversight, is a startling fact brought to light by recent investigation by school authorities. Hastily snatched meals so that there will be more time to play, the use of ready-to-eat cereals, and the general neglect of the call of nature are given as principal causes.

It is the duty of mothers to see that children attend to the call of nature before going to school. However, a laxative is sometimes needed, and this should be the old reliable, healing, natural vegetable treatment for constipation—castor oil—the only remedy that doesn't form a habit.

In the new jellied form known as CASTOR-JELL it is easy to take, CASTOR-JELL is simply 94 per cent pure castor oil, whipped into jellied form and with a delicious orange flavor added. On sale at Hargrove & Mullins. Demonstration now going on. Castor Products Co., Cleveland Ohio. (Advertisement)

time to treat with the United States government for the withdrawal of their forces from our territory," says the communication from Carranza's secretary of state to Secretary Lansing, according to the unofficial text received today.

The administration was suddenly brought face to face with what may prove the most serious situation that has grown out of the pursuit of Pancho Villa.

Declaring the crossing of the Mexican border never has been formally agreed to by the Carranza government the note reported enroute makes this declaration perhaps the most important of its contents:

An Odd Turkish Superstition.

An odd Turkish superstition is as follows: If one finds a piece of bread lying upon the ground he must pick it up, kiss it and carry it until he finds a hole into which the bread can be inserted. To step upon a piece of bread or to leave it lying upon the ground is one of the unpardonable sins and dooms the offender to the third hell, where he is perpetually gored by an ox that has but a single horn that is in the center of his forehead.

The Smile.

We talk of a smile of defiance. There is really no such thing. Such a so-called smile is nothing more nor less than a snarl, a survival of the way our savage ancestors had of showing their teeth in order to strike fear into the hearts of their enemies. The real smile of pleasure begins with slightly opening the mouth, and is, of course, traceable to the joy of those same savage forefathers of ours at the prospect of food.

Coffee In Java.

What Good Paint Will Do

GOOD paint—like Burdsal Paint—does more than merely protect and prolong the life of houses, barns, fences, sheds and other buildings. It increases their value—makes them worth more.

How? It makes them more attractive—and therefore more desirable. Well-kept, well-painted property speaks well for the man who owns it. It is a real indication of thrift and good business judgment.

When you paint this Spring, buy the paint that has been "making good" for almost fifty years—buy used since 1867

Burdsal Paint is dependable and holds its color. It goes on evenly and stays on a mighty long time. It is composed of pure zinc, pure lead, and pure oil—ingredients that assure you a paint that will "cling tight" to the wood—a paint that will wear long and faithfully, and a paint that will always retain its luster.

THOUSANDS AWAITING GIRL.
Child Was Lost When Her Grandparents Willed Money to Her.

Spokane, Wash.—Somewhere in the inland empire is a little girl between eleven and twelve years of age for whom thousands of dollars are waiting. A widespread search is now being made by Mrs. Lena Johnson of Elmira, Ida., a distant relative, who has the fortune in trust.

Disowned by her own parents, the mother took the girl when a baby to Mrs. Johnson, who was a relative, and asked her to find a home for the child. Mrs. Johnson brought the baby to Spokane in 1904. A few weeks later a home was found by Dr. Mary Latham, who was then head of the Spokane Children's Home society. The home was that of a farmer living somewhere near Spokane. A year later all of the records of the society were destroyed by fire.

In their old age the parents of the mother of the little girl repented of their attitude against their daughter, and when they died some time ago their will showed that all of their money had been left to the granddaughter.

Miss Margaret Metcalf closed a successful term of school at Frogpond Friday.

WHITE OF THE MOON.

What Causes Fair Luna, In Its Color, to Rival Pure Snow?

The moon has no light of its own and shines through being illuminated by the sun. What sort of surface must the moon have to reflect the light so whitely as it does? This question is put forcibly in a letter to Nature from J. Evershed of Srinagar, Kashmir, who describes the moon as far whiter and more brilliant than the snow clad summits of the Himalayas when these are still lighted by the sun. He writes:

"Why does the moon appear so white if it is composed of rocks similar in reflecting power to those on the earth? The rock surface of the moon should reflect far less light than the cloudy surfaces of Venus and Jupiter, and it would be of interest if those who know would explain the apparent whiteness of the moon as seen in daylight.

"A direct comparison of the moon with terrestrial rock surfaces illuminated by sunlight is possibly to some extent vitiated by the superimposed blue light scattered by the intervening air, which may affect the color of the moon. Yet it is very difficult to believe that this can convert the grays and browns of rock surfaces into an almost pure white.

"On several occasions in this valley I have compared the waning moon, setting behind the Pir Panjal mountains, and, of course, in full sunlight, with extensive snow fields. These snows are perhaps fifty miles distant, and there is a considerable amount of blue scattered light superposed on the snow, although less than on the moon. Also the light absorbed by the atmosphere is approximately and may be exactly the same for each if one considers the whole path of the light from sun to snow and thence to the observer. When the air is transparent enough to see the moon clearly it appears to me to be distinctly whiter than the snows, which seem dull and yellowish in comparison."

Mr. Evershed throws out the suggestion that the moon's surface may be covered with ice.

PICKING A LOBSTER.

Always Select One That Kicks and Struggles Vigorously.

When you go to pick out a lobster for cooking select one that kicks. Such is the advice Mrs. Mary C. Pickett gives in the National Food Magazine, the editor of which calls her the "lobster queen" and says she is the best known lobster broker in the United States.

Mrs. Pickett quotes the ancient Hebrew law against eating anything that has died of itself, and says that the moment a lobster is taken out of salt water it begins to die and its flesh deteriorates. So the excellence of a lobster depends in large measure on the length of time that elapses between his being taken from the water and his being served at table. When a lobster moves his claws feebly he is nearly dead and, though not unfit to eat, his flesh will not be firm and tasty.

Keepers of first class restaurants have experts to select their lobsters. These pick them over as soon as received, sending some to be boiled at once and reserving others for broiling.

The finest lobsters come from the coldest waters, and Mrs. Pickett says those caught south of Cape Cod do not amount to much, their flesh being not nearly so firm as those from Maine waters.

The only way to tell if a lobster is in really good condition is by its liveliness. If it struggles vigorously, flops its tail and "makes wide open mit its claws," it is all right; if it is lethargic, opens its claws wearily and shows no sign of fight, it is dying and should be let alone, for it is not cheap at any price.

"The lobster," writes Mrs. Pickett, "should be boiled in the morning for use at dinner and kept in a very cold place, but not in direct contact with the ice, and it is better not to remove the meat from the shell until just before preparing it in any desired way."

Mystifying Chemical Trick.

A plain blue handkerchief is shown to the audience. When the handkerchief is warmed it turns white and when cooled resumes its former color. Make a starch paste and add enough water to the paste to thin it. Then add sufficient tincture of iodine to color the liquid blue. A few drops will be enough. Dye a white handkerchief with this blue liquid, and when the handkerchief is dry it is ready for the trick.—Popular Science Monthly.

A Bargain.

"Look, dearie, at the lovely pair of shoes I bought today. Such a bargain, too—only $3.95."

"But aren't they a trifle small for you?"

"Now that you mention it, I think they are, but what can one expect for such a ridiculous price?"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Difference.

Man has fashioned the world. He has tunneled its peaks, bridged its chasms, drained its floods, laid cables across its oceans, cut its isthmuses, farmed its deserts and set up its civilizations. He fashions. Woman follows the fashions—that is the difference.—Life.

Farmers Are Benefited.
To show that farmers have been benefited by the war and that they are actually getting war orders, Congressman W. E. Humphrey of Washington cites the following:
"Democrats point to the prosperity of the farmer. True we have the largest wheat crop in our history, and we have sold more to Europe than ever before. Our sale of wheat to Europe during the first year of the war compared with the first year of the present tariff law in time of peace increased from $103,595,000 worth to $316,262,000 worth, a gain of 205 per cent.
"During the year of peace we sold in breadstuffs to Europe $181,484,000 worth. In the year of war we sold $567,607,000, a gain of 213 per cent.
"In the year of peace we sold to Europe horses to the value of $3,177,000. In the year of war we sold them horses to the value of $82,276,000, a gain of 2,490 per cent.
"In the year of peace we sold to Europe mules to the value of $622,000. In the year of war we sold them mules to the value of $18,041,000, a gain of 2,795 per cent.

"Why should not the farmer of this country be prosperous when he is feeding the greatest armies that this world has ever seen? Does the Democratic party think that there is a farmer in all America that can be deceived as to the reason of their present prosperity or that has forgotten the conditions that prevailed in his country the year before he war and the first year of the Underwood law upon our statute books?"

"Study Trust"
The reason for the recent failure of one-fourth of the midshipmen at Annapolis to pass their mid-year examinations has been explained. And it's a queer explanation. The mid-dies, it appears, had organized a "study trust," an institution which, though not in contravention of the Sherman law, was a plain infringement of patriotic obligations.
It appears that the demand for a larger navy which arose last year convinced the middies that they would all be needed as officers, that Uncle Sam simply couldn't do without them and would have to give them commissions no matter how their records stood. An old and discredited institution, the "study trust," reappeared, and proceeded to discourage all hard study. If a midshipman labored conscientiously, the idlers found means to make life so disagreeable for them that he usually fell into line. Thus the scholarship of the academy was sadly lowered.
But the boys reckoned without their host. Capt. Eberle had taken charge, as superintendent, and he proceeded to run the academy "just as he had commanded battleships." Even while the middies were relaxing their efforts, he was ordering instructors to tighten their requirements. Hence the slaughter in the January examinations, and the expulsion of 82 men from the academy.
It was a salutary lesson. The pity of it is that intelligent, respectable and presumably patriotic American youths should need such a lesson. For to shirk their duties and try to take advantage of their country—which feeds, clothes, houses and educates them free of charge—in the face of an imminent national need looks, to most civilians, little less than treason.

Here's a little sermon on preparedness from the New York Sun:
"We take it to be beyond dispute that nobody ought to learn to swim. Man being a terrestrial animal, it is impossible that he should ever find himself in water beyond his depth. Time and money spent in learning the art of swimming are therefore sheer waste—just as much so as if spent in military training. Obviously there is no more chance of a man's being drowned than there is of having to fight for his country."
It sounds ridiculous enough—as the Sun meant that it should. But there are people who talk just as ridiculously about military preparedness.
If there is any class of Americans more absurd than the jingoes who clamor for the biggest army and navy in the world, it's the pacifists who are so perfectly sure that there will never again be any need of fighting for our country.

The National Guard can be successfully used for defense in case of war, merely by asking permission of 48 governors and state legislatures every time an order is issued. To make the literary society go, have a good refreshments committee.
There is of course danger of catching the grip at church Sunday morning, but it is perfectly safe to go to the dance Monday night.

The necessity of lowering the income tax exemption to $2,000 is patriotically advocated by all having incomes of $1,999 and under.

It seems to be difficult to fit up dairy barns with sanitary equipment, as it takes all the money to build garages.

MUSIC IN MEXICO.
Every Little Hamlet Has a Band Stand of Its Own.
A HELP IN THE GAME OF LOVE.

To the Strains of Melody the Youths and Maidens "Play Bear," a Peculiar National Diversion That Is the Correct Road to Matrimony.
Music plays a very prominent part in the social life of Mexico, not alone in the capital and other larger cities, but all over that picturesque land. A Mexican who can play no musical instrument is nothing less than a curiosity. There is no hamlet so insignificant that it has no band. Eight or ten men get together and decide to form a band. Having reached that decision, they go to the jefe politico, or mayor.
"All right," he will tell them. "You are to play Wednesday evenings from 6 to 9 and Sunday mornings from 9 to 12," and a record is made.
And during these hours, rain or shine, hot or cold, through famine, war and pestilence, as long as those men are alive and in the town, the band is in the band stand playing for such as choose to linger in the plaza, or public square.
About the evening concerts much of the social and domestic life of Mexico centers. It is at the concerts that many a youth and maiden first meet and begin to "play bear," a game indigenous and peculiar to Mexico, without which no self respecting Mexican couple adventures on matrimony.
The general plan of every plaza is much the same. In the center is the band stand. Immediately surrounding the band stand is an open paved space. Then there are flower bordered walks with plenty of benches.
Round the edge of the plaza, outside the trees and flowers, is another broad paved walk. Upon this outer walk are grouped the poorer Mexicans, the peons. On the benches sit the fathers, the mothers, the older folk, of the better classes. Round the walk that surrounds the band stand saunter tirelessly the youths and maidens of the same class.
The women circle to the left on the outside, the men in the opposite direction, on the inside. Thus every one sees every one else innumerable times during the evening. And in this melodious circling a youth sets eyes on a maiden who strikes his fancy—the game of "playing bear" has begun.
He looks steadily at his charmer every time they pass, and she, if she is pleased, glances at him in return. After they have passed each other ten or a dozen times he is at the edge of the procession in which he walks, and she has moved to the edge of the column of young women.
Then the young man, with a friend, withdraws to some cantina, or cafe, and writes an ardent note. On the next round his friend in passing slips it into the hand of her companion. Then they continue their strolling until the concert is at an end.
On the next concert evening the performance is repeated, only this time the young lady is the one who presents the note, which she has written in her home. If she rejects her suitor's advances he persists or desists, according as he is faint hearted or not.
If he meets with success he begins the next phase of the game. Each evening he will be seen opposite his lady's house, passing back and forth like a sentry walking his post. Even during business hours he will rise suddenly from his stool, seize his hat, rush frantically to his accustomed beat and for several minutes walk up and down, gazing reproachfully at the barred windows across the way.
As time goes on, after six weeks or two months, say, have passed, the girl is at last to be seen seated in the window. Then ensues another period of from two weeks to a month. The young man's walks gradually shorten, and one evening he is to be seen underneath the window, gazing mournfully upward for hours, much to the discomfort of passersby. But no one grumbles. All the world loves a lover—especially in Mexico.
After this stage father and son call formally on the father of the young lady and make a proposal of marriage. When all the arrangements have been made the young man for the first time calls at the home of his affianced wife and meets her face to face, but never except in the company of a third person—mother, father or aunt—Youth's Companion.
When Solid Iron Floats.
Experiments have shown that if a ball of solid iron be lowered into a mass of liquid iron by means of a metal fork the ball at first sinks to the bottom with the fork, but that in a few seconds it will leave the prongs and rise to the surface, where it continues to float until it melts. The rising is explained by the expansion of the ball, due to heating, whereby it becomes, bulk for bulk, less dense than the molten metal.

James B. Eads (1820-1887)
James B. Eads, one of the world's greatest engineers and inventors was born in Lawrenceburg in 1820. Although his reputation was made outside the state, nevertheless Indiana claims him as one of her native sons. His passion for invention was manifested in early childhood and while in his teens he constructed models of sawmills, fire engines, and steamboats. At twenty-two he was engaged in the work of raising sunken steamers and many of the most valuable vessels which met with accidents in the Mississippi were saved by Eads. When the war broke out, President Lincoln summoned him to Washington and ordered him to construct iron-clad gunboats to use on southern and western rivers. Within one hundred days Eads designed, built and equipped eight such vessels which were used in the capture of Fort Henry, the siege of Vicksburg, and Mobile.

WIDOW'S STORY CORROBORATED

Mrs. Cora Boatright's Story of Murder of Robert Hester is Not Shaken on Stand

Efforts to Trip up Mrs. Boatright in Cross-Examination Prove to be Futile

Mrs. Cora Boatright of Muncie, formerly of this city, corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Robert Hester in every detail in the trial at Muncie of Jesse Lee Arter, accused of the murder of Mrs. Hester's husband. Mrs. Boatright is a cousin of Mrs. Hester's, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richardson. The Muncie Press has the following concerning the trial.

A long knife, covered with the blood of Robert Hester was shown to a jury late Tuesday evening. It was once the prized possession of Jesse Lee Arter, and the state claims it inflicted the wounds which may send Arter to the electric chair. The blade is broken—presumably when the blade struck the nickel plate of the stove in the Hester home last November. Arter's trial continued Wednesday with no disclosures of more than routine importance.

Dr. George R. Andrews, of the Home hospital where Hester was carried after the cutting, was the first witness to be placed on the stand for the state Wednesday morning. He said that the only evidence of life present in the body of Hester when it was carried into the hospital building were the "reflex actions" and that Hester probably was dead before the ambulance halted in front of the hospital building. Hester died from hemorrhages, induced by the severing of arteries and blood vessels in his right arm, Dr. Andrews testified.

"He had two gashes on the head and a deep wound starting from the left cheek bone, piercing the mouth walls into the mouth, and extended to the tip of his chin," the witness said. "His right arm was slashed for a distance of four inches and the large arteries and blood vessels were severed. He had a deep cut on the chest, extending from the neck down to the nipple."

"Would Mr. Hester have lived if he had been given medical attention within three to five minutes after the cutting?" inquired Attorney Miller.

"Possibly so," said Dr. Andrews. Miller attempted to bring out a statement that Hester's kidneys and heart were affected and that this, rather than the stab wounds inflicted by Arter, caused the death. He was unsuccessful.

Mrs. Cora Boatright, a cousin of the widow, Mrs. Hester and a witness of the tragedy, was gruelled for more than an hour by the state and defense. She corroborated the testimony of Mrs. Hester. She told in practically the same words, of the attack of Arter upon Hester. Efforts of the defense to trip her up in the cross-examination were futile.

Apparently, the plan of the defense's case has shifted. Although to all indications of counsel the plea of the defense will be self-defense, nevertheless it was evidenced that the defense will weave its case hereafter about the assertion that Arter did not premeditate the murder and that it was done in a fit of almost insane anger.

COMMENTS ON ENTERPRISE

Bank Notes Contains Article About Local Bank Folder

A very favorable comment on the enterprise exerted by two prominent financial institutions here appears in a recent issue of Bank Notes as follows:

"The Peoples National Bank and The Peoples Loan and Trust Company of Rushville, Indiana, issued their recent joint statements in the form of an 8-page folder, the outer covers of which carried a striking, large half-tone picture of the bank building, ingeniously arranged so that the front side of the cover, when the circular is folded, shows only the front of the structure." The folder was favorably commented upon by several of the officials of The American Bankers Association from whom inquiries have been made for samples of the report. The new bank building is shown in the picture in such a way as to display it in a favorable light from the viewpoint of the architecture of the structure.

* PRINCE OF WALES LIVES *
* LIKE OTHER SOLDIERS. *

(By United Press.)

London, April 13.—How the youthful, democratic Prince of Wales prefers an humble workman's cottage to a mansion in Northern France was told here today by a Methodist chaplain, just returned from the front.

"At a certain village," said the chaplain, "is a line of cottages and many times the Prince has slept on the floors of one of these humble homes. On the other side of the road is a beautiful old mansion, but the Prince preferred to live with the poor coal miner."

"I also saw the Prince 'doing his bit' at the front. He was often in danger and always went where his boys went."

When Mrs. Will E. Havens entertained the members of her card club at her home in West Second street yesterday afternoon, pink roses were used in profusion in the decorations. Although yesterday was her birthday, Miss Leona Ruddell was greatly surprised last evening upon returning to her home to find a number of her friends who had arrived rather unexpectedly to spend the evening with her. AN ADAMLESS EDEN.
San Francisco, April 13.—When the steamer Chehalis sailed into a cove at Tahiti some time ago Tahitian maidens swam out and besought the sailors to desert their ship and live there. Most of the men of Tahiti have gone to the European war, and it has become an "Adamless Eden." Passengers arriving here on the steamer Moana brought the story.

CURIOUS MEALS.

Elephants Are Gormandizers, and Giraffes Have Queer Tastes.

Elephants, at least captive elephants, have queer tastes, says Pearson's Weekly in an entertaining article about the peculiarities of four legged gourmets. One memorable day in 1908 Sulla Cull, the mighty and popular Indian elephant at the zoo, ate his bed. A thirty-six pound truss of straw had been put down on the floor for his comfort, and when the keeper went round in the morning not even the bands of the truss remained.

Sulla Cull followed it up during the day by eating three trusses of hay, weighing 150 pounds. Finally some one brought a number of Christmas puddings into the elephant house. Sulla Cull swallowed his pudding without even opening the cardboard box that contained it.

A zoo keeper once kept a tally of the number of hot cross buns an elephant took down. For six hours on one fine Good Friday it swallowed buns at the rate of 400 an hour!

The average giraffe loves nothing better in the world than a good square meal of flowers. It has not the slightest idea, however, of the difference between artificial and real flowers.

Some years ago when "garden hats" were all the rage the giraffe at the zoo made a day of it. In that glorious twelve hours it accounted for no fewer than seventeen hats, the majority of which were chewed beyond recognition before they could be rescued.

One of the funniest mistakes a giraffe ever made—funny for lookers-on, that is to say—was when a peacock strolled into its paddock. The peacock's tail caught the giraffe's eye, and evidently the animal mistook it for a gigantic and luxuriant species of flower. At any rate, before any one could interfere down came the giraffe's long neck, and, seizing the peacock by the tail, he hoisted it in midair. It was not long before bird and tail said goodbye to each other, and the peacock fluttered away, screaming with indignation. Although a trifle astonished at the proceedings of the newly discovered flower, the giraffe chewed the tail with great gusto.

JAPANESE GARDENS.

Their Aim is Always to Represent Nature in Miniature.

Every Japanese house of any pretensions must have a garden. The cost of one is invariably reckoned with the estimates for house building, being usually estimated at one-tenth the cost of the house. The Japan Magazine tells of the procedure:

When the niwashi (landscape gardener) gets the contract for a garden he first makes a model—that is, a miniature garden embodying every feature that the final product will have. The first thing to be done in laying out the garden is to select the place for the lake or pond and excavate it. The earth thus obtained is utilized for the construction of an artificial hill and also for a small island, both of these features being considered necessities. Next in importance is the placing of the stone lantern; then comes an artistic bridge to the island. Next comes the placing of trees, rocks and stones with due consideration for the appearance of the garden as a whole.

Japanese do not place much value on a new garden, age being of far greater importance. It is not until a few years have passed that the garden is considered at its best, for the stones and tree trunks must be moss covered and the whole must give the appearance of nature's rather than man's work.

The garden is not laid out according to any scientific plan. It is rather a matter of instinct and experience, the aim of the artist being to represent nature in miniature.

Deming, N. M., April 13.—Little Jesus Paez is at the hospital here with his left leg amputated at the hip. Today it was announced that he will have a new leg the gift of Americans at Deming.

When Villa raided Columbus, Jesus was with his bandit father. He was told to hold his father's horse. The 12-year-old did so until an American bullet shattered his leg. As he dropped the Villa band turned and fled.

Jesus said today: "I thought Americans killed everybody they captured and I was afraid. I crawled away and hid in the brush. After a while a big soldier came and got me. He was good to me. They had to cut off my leg, but it didn't hurt much. Now I want to stay here and be a real American." Deming folk will give the boy a chance.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water
before breakfast to wash
out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning aside bath.

Polks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

VEGETABLE CALOMEL

Vegetable calomel, extract of the root of the old-fashioned may-apple plant, does not salivate. As a liver stimulant, it's great. It's a perfect substitute for ordinary calomel (mercury); in fact, it's better, because its action is gentle instead of severe and irritating—and it leaves no mean, disagreeable after-effects. Physicians recognize this and prescribe may-apple root (podophyllin, they call it) daily.

Combined with four other standard, all-vegetable remedies, may-apple root may now be had at most any druggist's in convenient sugar-coated tablet form by asking for Sentalin Laxatives. If you forget the name, ask for the box that has the picture of the soldier on it.

These tablets are small, easy to take and are really wonderful little performers.

They quickly clean out the poisons that are causing you headache, constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, dizzy spells, bad breath and coated tongue.

They are mild. They never gripe. And they are a bowel tonic as well as a cleanser and liver regulator. A 10c box should last one several weeks. A Physician's trial package (4 doses) will be mailed you free if you write mentioning this advertisement. The Sentalin Remedies Co., 802 Madison Ave., Covington, Ky.

Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

COSTS MORE TO LIVE IN LONDON

Good Prices Are Higher There
Than in New York—Applies
Also to Other Provinces.

TAXES ARE STILL GOING UP

Beef Retail at 40 Cents a Pound—

Sole Coal Selling at $7.80

Per Ton.

BY CHAS. P. STEWART.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, April 13.—It cost more to live in London today than it costs to live in New York.

It costs more to live in the smaller cities and towns of England's provinces than it costs to live in the cities and towns of the United States.

Cleveland, Kansas City, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Dallas, San Francisco, Portland are cheaper places to live than Sheffield, Liverpool, Manchester, Hull and English cities like that.

Nevertheless, Britishers returning today from the United States insist their country still is the cheaper for the masses.

Their mistake lies in the fact that the English do without many things Americans consider absolute necessities. Most such things are so high in England today that only plutocrats can have them.

Practically the only exception in England's favor is clothing; and even clothing is higher. A good sack suit, English fit, which used to cost $20, now sells for $22.50. The price is still rising.

So are other prices. It is not a gradual rise. Hardly a day passes that an advance of 5 or 10 per cent is not announced in some staple.

Beef is 40 cents, mutton 28, pork 28; hardly any lamb is to be had; the killing of calves is prohibited; bread 9 cents a 2-pound loaf; good butter 42 cents; tea 52 cents; very soft coal $7.80 a ton; anthracite $11.28.

Rentals are about the same as in the United States but include nothing.

Cooking and lighting gas in a 5-room flat cannot be kept below $10 or $12 monthly.

Telephone calls are 6 cents each. A 5-mile street car ride costs 7 cents.

Cigars which would be dear in the United States at a nickel a piece, retail in England at 14 cents.

The distilleries being used by the government for munition making, it is predicted that whiskey which sold at 78 to 96 cents a bottle will soon retail at $2.40.

The income tax has risen until it is a fearful burden. It begins with incomes of 130 pounds ($624) yearly. The assessment increases more than proportionately as the income grows larger. A man earning $2,500 annually, pays 36 cents on every $4.50. If his income is from invested capital the rate is much higher.

The net result is that an English family, moving to America and continuing to live according to the English standard, would have more money than at home, while an American family moving to England and continuing to live according to the American standard, would have materially less.

MASKED TUAREGS

Ruthless Buccaneers of the Middle Sahara Desert.

AT WAR WITH ALL MANKIND.

These Nomads of the Trackless Sands of Northern Africa Levy Tribute Upon All Caravans They Meet and Live in Mystery and Exclusiveness.

"In northern Africa there lies a trueless country, inhabited by a people, the masked Tuaregs, fascinating for the mystery and exclusiveness with which they have surrounded their life. These people, natives and rulers of the middle desert, are the allies of no one, but wage a futile guerrilla warfare with all who invade the inhospitable Sahara sands of their domain. They are the buccaneers of the trackless sand, forever at war with all civilization and its restraints," says an article issued by the National Geographic society at Washington, which describes the people always willing to fight for the maintenance of their power to levy tribute upon the ancient transsaharan caravan routes.

"Masked Tuaregs are Berber nomads, a white desert people, whose country is probably the most inaccessible on earth. Even before Egyptian civilization began to leave coherent records of its history the Tuaregs, or Berbers, were long established along northern Africa. The great Arab invasion of the eleventh century displaced them from their possessions upon the seacoast and drove them into the savage area of the interior desert, where, with their hands raised against all who came into their pathless country, they have maintained themselves through the intervening centuries despite lack of water, sandstorms and lack of farming land, requisitioning by force of arms from the Arabs and Egyptians, to the north and east, and from the blacks of the Sudan, in the south, such necessities and luxuries as their cheerless portion of Mother Earth cannot supply them.

"There are five main tribes in the Tuareg confederation, and they inhabit the desert from Tuat to Timbuktu and from Fezzan to Zinder. Their homes are ranged in the heart of arid wastes, where vast solitudes, unnatural heats and unmarked distances shroud everything in uncanny mystery. They are masters of an area half that of the United States in extent. Of this 1,500,000 square miles of territory scarcely 3,000 acres, or less than the area of New York city, is cultivated land. This scanty, farm land is only maintained by an enduring struggle with the drifting sands. These fierce adventurers who have forced the great desolation to yield them a support number 300,000 or more, according to estimate, and they have made themselves feared by the natives from the Mediterranean to the jungles of central Africa.

"The Tuaregs wear the end of their turban cloth drawn around the face, allowing nothing but the eyes to be seen. It is worn for the purpose of protecting the throat and lungs from the cutting blasts of fine desert sand and also probably as an element enhancing the mystery of their life, for they seldom or never remove these masks, which hang over the desert or visiting trading cities on the coast. Due to these cloths they are called masked Tuaregs, while the Arabs call them 'people of the veil.' The masks are dark blue and white, the former being worn by Tuareg nobles and the latter by the serfs and slaves.

"Some centers for trade, Tuareg towns, are situated in the middle desert. These are Wargla, Timbuktu, Ghat, Ghadames, Murzuk and Insalah. However, the Tuareg has little care for trade and industry. He is a fearless, enduring, hard fighting adventurer along the merchandise trails that cross the desert. Two important trails leave Tripoli, on the coast, and traverse 3,000 miles of sands and barren wastes to the Sudan, where rich cargoes of skins, gold, ivory and other interior African products are loaded upon camels and brought northward. Sometimes a single caravan consists of thousands of camels and merchandise to the value of hundreds of thousands of dollars. When passing through the Tuareg country the leaders of such caravans have had to pay a tribute to the chieftains by the way for safe escort or run the risk of losing all their goods.

"From Morocco to Tripoli the relentless ferocity, the cunning and the daring of the Tuareg are mingled in all the traditions unpleasant to the more peaceful natives along the coast. The Tuaregs meanwhile, openly spy upon the caravans in course of outfitting in the coast cities and thrive upon the tribute they are able to exact.

"The Tuaregs are of the purest Berber stock, the noble families unmixed with other blood, and in their own language they call themselves 'the noble people.' Nominally they are Mohammedans, and some of their number compose the most intolerant and warlike sect in Islam, the Senussite sect. Their hatred for the foreigner is greater even than that bred by their religion, and so they are more exclusive than ever were the Chinese or Japanese. Their social organization divides them into five classes—the nobles, the priests, the serfs, the cross breeds and the slaves. All of these classes have this in common—they form together the Tuareg family, which holds itself superior to all the other peoples of the earth."

WAR MEAT ORDERS BOOSTING PRICES

Advances Several Cents a Pound in
Last Few Days and Will Soar
Even Higher.

PREDICTIONS OF DEALERS

(By United Press.)

New York, April 13.—Meat has advanced several cents a pound in the last three weeks and will soar higher, Washington Market dealers said today. Fresh and smoked meats and fowl have gone up 2 and 3 cents a pound. Veal is the cheapest commodity for the housewife.

The demand of the Allies has boosted the price of meat. New York, Chicago and Kansas City houses are filling orders for Europe as fast as they can. A Chicago packing firm contracted for 26,000,000 pounds of meat for the Allies two weeks ago. The orders are more desirable, dealers assert, than supplying the demands in the United States, as the minute a foreign order is placed aboard a boat for shipment it is paid for in American gold.

"We are helpless," said Emile Joseph, one of the largest retailers in the market. "The packers advance the price, and we either have to boost the same or suffer. They offer only one excuse—a big demand."

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY.

Portland, Ore., April 12.—Thousands of gorgeously plumed Chinese pheasants infesting the highways and byways of this city today are making life a burden for Portland housewives and property owners. Apparently they belong to no one in particular. Game laws and anti-firearm city ordinances prevent their slaughter. So the birds continue to rip out spring gardens fly through windows into the bosoms of families and to play non generally. Mayor Albee has refused S. J. Claridge and other citizens permission to shoot the pheasants, but has instructed the police force members to "shoot" the critters away as much as possible.

UP-TO-NOW IN DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as rational designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer, Mr. A. H. Schlichte. J. B. SCHRICHTER SONS MONUMENTS 117-121 S. MAIN ST.

Blind Hero, Cupid, The Girl And Incubator Have Parts In Romance

(By United Press.)

London, April 13.—Down in Wokingham, a little village nestled in the Surrey Hills, not far from London, George Fleetwood, 26, former British soldier, was married today. Just about a year ago today, Fleetwood crawled over the top of a British trench near Arrmentiers, in Northern France, and charged with his comrades toward the German lines. Machine guns sputtered and half way across "No man's Land" Fleetwood fell. Hours later ambulance men carried him to the rear. A busy military surgeon made a brief examination of a wound in Fleetwood's head.

"Probably blind for life if he recovers at all," was the hurried diagnosis.

A month passed and Fleetwood was sent to a hospital in London. The surgeon's snap verdict at the base hospital was correct. He was blind for life. The patient recovered and was discharged from the hospital. A nurse led him by the arm to St. Dunstan's school for blinded soldiers, the prettiest spot in the heart of London.

It took a few moments' conference with C. A. Pearson, superintendent of St. Dunstan's—former editor of the London Daily Express who also is blind—to map out Fleetwood's career. Besides the government pension of about $6 a week he owns an acre and a half of ground in the Surrey Hills. Fleetwood decided to raise chickens.

St. Dunstan's chicken school is the only institution of its kind in the world. In it Fleetwood learned to tell a Leghorn from a Plymouth Rock, or any other breed, by touch! how to tell a bag egg from a good one; how to pull an incubator apart and put it together again and various other things.

He also took a thorough course in St. Dunstan's wood working school and learned to build chicken houses, fences and coops. In the basket making department he learned how baskets are made, also how to plot his chicken yard with hand rails and boards so that by touch of hand or foot he will know his exact location.

Then came Cupid. Right into the school.

Women—some of them from fashionable London—go to St. Dunstan's to talk and read to the blind men. One of these young women met Fleetwood. She liked his looks and he liked her voice. For weeks she accompanied him to the chicken school and during spare hours she read to him.

One day Fleetwood told her about the little chicken farm in Surrey, outlined his plans and bluntly proposed. The girl was so astonished she accepted.

Today, in the little church at Wokingham, the romance had its climax. Among the wedding gifts was an incubator which followed behind the nuptial carriage to the little chicken farm.

CENTENNIAL NEWS LETTER

(Issued by the Indiana Historical Commission)

The Franklin County pageant in the first week in June is being written by Professor Charlton Andrews of Columbia University, New York.

The Kokomo Dispatch has issued an Indiana Centennial edition of ten thousand copies. The Bloomington World-Courier is preparing a similar issue.

The Vincennes School Board has selected names for the local public schools which will be used instead of numbers, among them being: George Rogers Clark, William Henry Harrison, Tecumseh, Francis Vigo, Lincoln, and James Whitcomb Riley. Good!

Here is the right ring from the Monticello Journal: "Nothing short of a great calamity of some kind or the end of the world could stop White County's Centennial celebration from being the biggest and grandest affair that was ever pulled off in the county." Real Hoosier spirit there!

The Indiana Historical Commission proposes to issue a public statement soon, dividing the counties of the State into the Quick or the Dead, on the basis of Centennial preparations now under way. County chairmen will please take notice. A few will have to hurry to get out from under.

The Woman's Club of Salem held an "Indiana" open meeting, April 4, the One Hundred and Second Anniversary of the founding of that historic town. Most appropriate decorations and the collection of a splendid exhibit of historic relics featured the evening. An address was delivered by Director W. C. Woodward of the Historical Commission.

South Bend and Notre Dame University, led by County Chairman F. A. Miller and President John Cavanaugh, respectively, made the northern meeting of the Historical Commission most enjoyable and profitable. The St. Joseph Valley, both historically and scenically, offers rare possibilities for the pageant which is being prepared for presentation on the banks of the beautiful St. Joseph river.

At St. Mary-of-the-Woods College Miss Gertrude Schultz, member of the Senior class, has just completed an artistic dramatization of "Alice of Old Vincennes." The play will be presented by the Seniors of the College and the graduating Class of the Academy during Commencement week, which will be "Indiana Week" at St. Mary-of-the-Woods. The final essays of the class of 1916 of the Academy or High School are all on Indiana subjects.

"Get to thinking! Lay Plans! Clean up! Plant flowers!" is the quadruple slogan of the Huntington Committee which is engaging to see that the town presents a spic and span appearance at the time of the Dubois County celebration in September. Holland, in the same county, is preparing to beautify its school grounds with flowers and shrubs and to erect a Centennial brick arch over the entrance, each citizen to contribute a brick. Carry the news to Golds!

commented most heartily: "The extensive celebration this year of Indiana's Centennial as a State is, after all, going to mean very much more than a mere transitory spectacle that shall entertain its thousands for the moment. It is going to tell a wondrous story and impress upon the minds of all a grasp of the history of the State that will endure as long as they shall live. It is highly gratifying to note that those in charge of the work are going about it with this purpose in view. There is to be nothing of the Street Fair, nothing of the cheap carnival, and nothing of the tawdry about the undertaking. Instead, we are to have the story of Indiana's start, Indiana's growth, and Indiana's achievement presented in such form as to make every Hoosier still prouder of his State and infinitely better acquainted with its history."

You can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and not a medicine. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

BIG EVENT IN STATE HISTORY

Pageant at Indiana University
Celebrating Centennial Will
be Model For Others.

DATES ARE MAY 16, 17, 18

Will be "Historical Spectacle Showing Development of Bloomington and I. U."

Bloomington, Ind., April 13.—One of the most important events in the history of Indiana University, not only from the standpoint of students and alumni of the University but also from that of teachers and citizens throughout the State, will be the Pageant of Bloomington and Indiana University, to be held on the campus here May 16, 17, and 18. This will be the first of Indiana's centennial celebrations and, as it is being designed to serve as a model for other communities to follow, will, no doubt, bring many people here from all parts of the State.

Since the Pageant takes place at the most favorable time in the year for making trips automobile and by rail, students in the University are planning to make the third week in May the occasion for entertaining home folks and showing them about the campus, at a time which makes it famous as one of Indiana's most beautiful bits of scenery. The Indiana Alumni Association plans a general reunion for the old grads at this time. A baseball game with Ohio State University will be a special attraction for Pageant week. The University and city authorities extend a warm invitation to all Hoosiers to be here for the opening of Indiana's one hundredth Anniversary celebration and are making elaborate arrangements to take care of hundreds of visitors.

The Pageant will be a historic spectacle showing, with striking realism, the development of Bloomington and the State University from the time the first white settler came into Monroe county down to the present day. Hundreds of students and townspeople will take part, many of them direct descendants of the most influential pioneers and the most noted educators in the history of community and State. The University orchestra of forty-five pieces and the University glee clubs of more than one hundred voices will furnish the music.

The Pageant will be held in a natural setting of trees and shrubbery near Kirkwood Observatory. The performance will be repeated each day for three days, at about four o'clock in the afternoon, and will require about two hours. Bleachers with a seating capacity of more than three thousand will be erected.

Garrets and closets in and about Bloomington are being ransacked for relics and costumes of the old days for use in the coming Pageant. Wherever suitable costumes and other necessary materials can not be found, Mr. Langdon will have them made. The University owns a large collection of early agricultural implements, household furniture and Indian relics which will be of great value in the Pageant.

The Pageant is divided into twelve episodes, which show the stages of development of this community at different periods. The early scenes will picture the arrival of the settlers in the wilderness, the troubles with the Indians, the laying out of Bloomington, the auctioneering of town lots, and old-fashioned pioneer dances. Later scenes and dialogue will portray the establishment of the old Indiana Seminary, the early methods of teaching, and the many trials and steady growth of the institution.

At one stage of the drama, there will be a real fire, to show the burning of the University building in 1883. The final episode will be a grand climax in which all the characters of the entire Pageant will unite in paying supreme tribute to the State and Nation. Dancing, pantomime and massed choral and

EXPERIMENTS WITH RATS

Trying to Find Food That Will Give Efficiency to Human Beings.

(By United Press.)
Madison, Wis., April 13.—After experimenting for 7 years on 1,000 rats, to find the ingredients of the food that will make human beings live the most efficient lives, Prof. E. V. McCollum, it was learned today, has just obtained his first satisfactory results and expects to be ready to prescribe the perfect food before long.

McCullum still is in search of the chemical parts of two unknown compounds that he must have. He chooses the food for his rats as carefully as though they were dyspeptic millionaires. Some of the long tailed boys and girls have grown to be quite chummy with the professor.

SKY BLUE MUSTACHTS

New York, April 13.—Do you remember, in "Ten Thousand a Year," how Tittlebat Tittmouse's hair turned a brilliant bottle green because he used cheap dye on his clayly locks? Wholesale druggists here today said real hair dye is practically off the market because of the war—so if hair-dyers don't want emerald thatches, lavender beards and sky-blue mustaches, let them beware. The druggists look for an epidemic of bona-fide blondes and the coming to light of many unsuspected "gray ones."

Later in the campaign Mrs. Catt probably will travel in a special car attached to regular trains, escorted by state leaders.

GAVE UP RACE TWO YEARS AGO

(By United Press.)
Portland, Ore., April 13.—The 40 Oregon delegates to the biennial session of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in New York May 22 will be instructed to vote for Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles of Los Angeles for the federation presidency. Other western delegates are expected to vote for her, also.

Mrs. Cowles, they argue, gave up her aspirations for the presidency two years ago that California might be designated the last meeting place. There will be 30,000 delegates representing 2,000,000 women at the big convention.

Mrs. Charles H. Castner of Hood River, president of the state organization, and Mrs. J. A. Pettit, general secretary, are delegates.

The state federation has selected other delegates as follows: Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, Mrs. J. W. Tift, Mrs. Jewel Bruce, Mrs. L. H. Addison and Mrs. John McRoberts of Portland; Mrs. Gardner M. Thayer of Oswego and Mrs. W. T. Reeves of Stanfield.
